Granddaughter's Visit.
More Pay for Good Men.
Blaming Automobiles.
John Hertz—His Sign.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in accordance with the policies of the Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

Rich Americans send their dollars off to Europe with their daughters, little knowing how those dollars or daughters will come back.

Sometimes dollars stay and daughters come back with a divorce and experience. Sometimes daughters and dollars stay, and the next generation returns to surprise the man that made the dollars.

Old Levi Letter, of Chicago, whose money established the fortune of Lord Curzon in England, would be surprised to meet his granddaughter, Lady Cynthia Mosley. Behold, she comes to the United States for a visit, speaking an English of which old Letter would understand not one word; and she is a socialist, spending the Letter money to get into parliament on the Labor ticket.

Can't you imagine Levi Letter turning in his grave, like an electric fan?

The railroad trainmen, hundreds of thousands of faithful workers, ask for better pay, and ought to get it.

Railroads, protected by government, enjoy prosperity. Steadily increasing, they should divide prosperity with the men that do the work, through the nights in cold and rain, when those that collect dividends are asleep.

All Americans, especially business men and money makers, should demand that good workmen get their share of national prosperity.

The rich man can get only his share of what the average man has to spend.

Go back to the figures now that from 1920 to 1924 "automobiles killed 60, 876 men, women and children."

And in 1924 the "death toll" numbered 15,528.

Calculated to give the false and damaging impression that the automobile in itself is a dangerous, deadly demon, these figures are not true to fact.

Of the 60-odd thousand killed in five years some were the victims of stupid, reckless or drunken drivers, some of incompetents.

The greater number killed were victims of their own carelessness, commonly described as "jay-walking."

When a man on the railroad track is killed, nobody blames the locomotive or suggests suppressing railroads.

The signs read "Stop, Look and Listen," and "Keep Off the Tracks."

City streets and country highways are now in fact railroad tracks. Public convenience, happiness and comfort demand all possible encouragement of the automobile industry. Not a few, but tens of millions now ride in automobiles every day.

It is therefore a crime to misrepresent the situation, discourage the automobile industry, blaming the individual careful driver for the carelessness and stupidity of "jay-walkers."

The automobile industry is the greatest blessing of the human race.

John Hertz, who bosses Yellow taxicabs in Chicago, and taxis and cabs all over the world, is determined

A FREE BAKING BOOKLET

Some kind of bread is served on the average American table three times a day. The quality of that bread is an important matter. The food value depends on the materials which go into it, whether it is made at home or in the bakery. The Baking Booklet has been planned primarily as a guide in home baking, but through its discussions of materials it offers help also in the choice of commercial baked products.

This invaluable offering is a free government publication, and our Washington Information Bureau will send a copy for any reader who fills out and mails the coupon below, enclosing two cents in stamps for return postage. Write your name and address clearly.

LEGISLATIVE ENACTMENT WILL LIQUIDATE DEFICIT, SAYS RALPH W. EMMONS

DRY CHIEFTAIN WILL ATTEND PARLEY HERE

Prohibition Commissioner McDonald to Visit City Tuesday.

MASS MEETING Anti-Saloon Forces of District Will Re-organize.

State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald, Columbus, and V. A. Schreiber, Canton, district superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league and former mayor of East Liverpool, will visit here next Tuesday evening, when district dry forces will be reorganized.

A mass meeting will be held in the First United Presbyterian church, Sixth and Jefferson streets, at 7:30 o'clock. All persons "interested in prohibition" are invited to attend. Officers will be elected.

Mr. Schreiber was a resident here until he retired from the mayor's office about 10 years ago. For many years he was the Anti-Saloon league superintendent in the Toledo district, but about a year ago was transferred to the Canton office.

Mr. McDonald is a former chautauqua speaker and also was the supreme lecturer for the Modern Woodmen of America for several years.

The program, which will be interspersed with musical numbers, was discussed at a dinner meeting of a representative gathering in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. last evening.

Similar district reorganization meetings, preliminary to the forming of a county organization, will be held in Wellsville, Salem, Salineville, Leetonia, Lisbon, East Palestine and Columbiana.

The mass meeting next Tuesday will also celebrate the sixth anniversary of national prohibition, which became effective on January 16, 1920, just six years ago today.

W. G. McKee Funeral At 3:30 p. m. Sunday In Sturgis Home

Funeral services for W. G. McKee, 83, Civil war veteran, former resident of Fredericktown, who died in the home of his son, John McKee, in Shelby, will be held at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Sturgis funeral home, Fifth street. Rev. Frank G. Fowler, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will be in charge. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

C. OF C. BOARD MEETING CALLED

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce will meet next Tuesday or Wednesday evening to elect officers for the coming year.

New members of the board, who were chosen for a term of three years, include W. H. Vodrey, Joseph Betz, T. V. Milligan, Frank Swaney, Charles Hendershot, John Manor and C. V. Beatty.

EVANGELIST SAYS SCORES OF PEOPLE HERE LIVE FOR SHOW AND DRESS

"Put Powder Puffs, Lip Sticks and Curling Irons on Their Coffins When They Die," Suggests Rev. Lincicome.

Warning that death is no respecter of person, Evangelist Forman Lincicome, of Gary, Ind., in a sermon at the Oakland Free Methodist church last night, charged "there are carloads of people in East Liverpool who are living for mere show and dress."

Ohio Assembly's Action Will Permit Financial Relief to Meet Shortage in Funds on Dec. 31, Last.

SOLVES BOARD MEMBERS' PROBLEM

Representative Explains Authorities, Upon Petition of 60 Per Cent of Electors May Issue Certificates.

The financial embarrassment of the East Liverpool district schools, which are facing a deficit of approximately $30,000 by reason of shrinkage in tax collections will be relieved if Gov. A. V. Donahey approves or permits the Baxter bill, enacted by the state legislature, to become a law. State Representative Ralph W. Emmons, of East Rochester, said today.

Emmons returned home this morning from Columbus, where as a member of the house he attended the special one-day session of the assembly yesterday.

Way Out of Dilemma.

"The Baxter bill, if permitted to become a law, will solve the financial problem of the East Liverpool schools," he said. "The measure permits the board of education to adopt a resolution, authorizing certification of indebtedness to meet a deficit of Dec. 31, last. As to a deficit during the present year, this, too, may be liquidated if 60 per cent of the electors petition the board to follow the course outlined by the bill."

Emmons said a letter from Clerk Emmett J. Gaston of the East Liverpool board, in which he set forth the financial dilemma of the schools, was made a part of the records at the meeting of the taxation committee of the legislature which recommended enactment of the Baxter measure.

What Bill Provides.

The Baxter bill provides that the accounting officer of each taxing district shall, immediately upon the passage of this act, or not later than April 1, next, certify to the state auditor:

1.—The balance, or deficiency, outstanding to the credit, or debit, of the several funds of the taxing district, except sinking fund, as of December 31, last.

Prohibition Staff Slash Planned on Saloonless Birthday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—A new slash in the federal prohibition staff at Washington within a few days will reduce the force here to 250 and virtually complete the drys' organization started nine months ago by Gen. L. C. Andrews.

This was announced today, the anniversary of the date when prohibition became effective in the United States. In the last nine months over 400 subordinate officials, legal and technical experts and clerks have been dropped from prohibition headquarters which once had a staff of nearly 1,000.

When these people die they will not need any funeral sermon preached; all you will need to do is to get their powder puffs, lip sticks, curling irons, finger rings, brass bands, strings of pearls, low-necked dresses and sleeve-ing for mere show and dress.

"They are a thousand times more worried about their freckles than they are about their sins," he said. "They are more concerned about their standing before society than they are about their standing before God. They are more interested in the latest fad than the place of redemption."

"When these people die they will not need any funeral sermon preached; all you will need to do is to get their powder puffs, lip sticks, curling irons, finger rings, brass bands, strings of pearls, low-necked dresses and sleeve-

Rev. L. C. Difford Is Critically Ill; Bishop Visits Him

Rt. Rev. Warren Lincoln Rogers, Cleveland, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Ohio, was called here today by the critical illness of Rev. Lionel C. Difford, pastor of the St. Stephen's Episcopal church. He will return home this afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Difford's illness is due to a complaint of long standing. Services at the St. Stephen's church tomorrow will be in charge of Rev. Mr. Ward, of Akron.

MASONS HEAR MUSICALE AT ANNUAL DINNER

Welsh Male Chorus of Youngstown Features Program.

DANCE IS HELD Four Hundred Lodge- men and Ladies are Guests.

Establishing a precedent by the utilization in turn of its dining hall, lodge auditorium and ballroom on the first, third and second floors, respectively, 400 East Liverpool Masons, their wives and other members of their families, with an inviting banquet, dancing program of songs and dancing, celebrated the sixteenth anniversary of the building's occupancy at the Broadway-Masonic Temple last evening.

Attendance were former residents now living in Lisbon, Salineville, Wellsville and other nearby points.

Marring to a considerable degree the otherwise most successful departure of all the various details of the affair was the sudden passing away earlier in the day of Dr. William H. Clark, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, long one of the body's outstanding adherents who was to have made the invocation preceding the dinner.

Cognizance of his departure was taken by Joseph T. Croxall preliminary to the musical program in the lodge room. "We deeply regret the loss that has come to us in the death of Dr. William H. Clark," he said. "We are impressed by the fact that this loss is equally felt by the people of the community generally as well as by us who knew him in intimate fraternal relation. In every walk of life since the knowledge of the sad event has reached them people have remarked a sense of the universal loss that the city has sustained in his sudden end."

Tripartite Affair.

As a further gesture of the feelings of the organization the arranged music by the combined aggregation of male voices from Youngstown and East Liverpool, directed by W. A. MacDonald.

JOHN W. MOORE QUALIFIES AS SERVER-SAFER FOR BENEDUM

Democrat Takes Reins of Two Municipal Departments.

OFFICES MERGED
A. G. Ellis and S. E. Anderson Relinquish Places

John W. Moore, clerk of the board of deputy state supervisors of election and former newspaper publisher, will assume the office of service-safety director of the city of East Liverpool late this afternoon, succeeding Service Director A. G. Ellis and Safety Director S. E. Anderson.

Moore is the first man to hold the two directorships, combined by the ordinance approved by council last year. He should have assumed office last Monday, January 11, but at his request his predecessors were permitted to serve the first half of the month.

The new director will maintain his office in the city water works office, Fourth street, and also will have a desk space at the city hall. He has made no announcement concerning his policy.

12 Escape Death As Bus Hangs on Excavation Edge

CINCINNATI, Jan. 16.—A dozen persons are recovering from injuries and grateful today that they are still in the land of the living. They were injured last night when a double deck bus of the Norwood Bus company jumped the curb on the east side of Montgomery road opposite Weyer avenue in Norwood, plowed through a brick pile and hung suspended on the edge of an excavation for the cellar of a house under construction. The bus was crowded with persons on their way home from work. Chauffeur William Hildreth told the police that the steering wheel locked and, although he applied the brakes, the momentum of the heavy vehicle carried it over the sidewalk to the brink of disaster.

Ceramic Theatre Will Award Auto At 9 p. m. Monday

A new automobile will be awarded to a patron of the Ceramic theatre at 9 o'clock Monday evening, Manager William Tallman announced today.

Attorney Blaine H. Cochran, Bruce Curby, of the Dollar bank and W. T. Blake, of the Pottery Herald, will be in charge of the drawing.

EX-CONGRESSMAN GOES TO PRISON

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 16.—John W. Langley, former congressman from the tenth Kentucky district, arrived here today and went directly to the federal prison to begin serving his two year sentence for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

Langley was greeted by half a dozen former Kentuckians when he arrived at the terminal station.

"I'd sooner see my brother going to prison than you, John," remarked one of the group.

Langley made no statement. He was accompanied here by Oscar Flannery, his nephew, and Roy B. Williams, federal district attorney from Kentucky.

Thomas H. Carr, 58, Dies Here; Funeral Services Tuesday

LUNACY BOARD MAY ACT IN POISON DEATH CASE INQUIRY

George Crawford, III in Hospital, is Quizzed.

NO PLOT EVIDENCE

Mrs. John Densmore Lists Prisoner's Sixth Husband.

That Mrs. Laura E. Christy, 48, bride of nine days, charged with first degree murder in connection with the alleged poisoning of her pastor husband, Rev. William Christy, 56, representative of the United Christian Missionary association, is criminally insane, was the opinion of Chief of Police Hugh McDermott today following an investigation of the woman's career during the last 30 years.

Mrs. Christy "has the brains of a child," McDermott said. "This is shown in the purchase of a necklace, a brooch, silverware, trunk and other things on Wednesday while her husband was dying in the hospital. It will not take long for a lunacy commission to judge her mentally unbalanced. She should be committed to the state hospital for the criminal insane."

While county authorities would not discuss the next step in the prosecution of the woman, who is a prisoner in the county jail, it is not improbable a lunacy commission will be called upon to examine the accused before the grand jury considers the alleged poisoning plot charges.

This action, however, is expected to be deferred pending receipt of a report of the analysis of Mr. Christy's vital organs.

Mrs. Densmore's Story.

Police today definitely established that Mrs. Christy had been married six times instead of five. Mrs. John Densmore, Jackson square, informed Chief McDermott that her nephew, Charles O'Neill, of this city, was married to the present Mrs. Christy about 15 years ago and that he had died but a month after their marriage.

Mrs. Densmore said that O'Neill and his bride went to Cincinnati to live, where the former worked as a teamster. A few days later local relatives received a letter from his wife, stating that O'Neill was dead, she said. Relatives went to Cincinnati but found the husband alive, Mrs. Densmore claimed.

"We thought the whole affair queer, but Charles's wife seemed to think it was a joke," Mrs. Densmore said. "Two weeks later we received word that Charles was dead and that his body was being brought back to East Liverpool for burial."

"When the woman arrived with

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find it in the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium," 121 West Fifth Street. Have them bring their Bibles. The questions for this week are:

177. Did Adam and Eve Fall in their trial for life?
Answer: Yes. Genesis 3:6.
178. Did God blame Eve for Adam's sin?
Answer: See 1 Timothy 2:14; Romans 5:12, 16, 18.
179. How did God punish Adam?
Answer: See Genesis 2:17; 3:19, 20; Romans 6:23; 5:12, 16, 18; 1 Corinthians 15:22.
180. Are the dead conscious?
Answer: See Ecclesiastes 9:5, 10; 3:19, 20; Psalm 146:4; 6:5; 1 Corinthians 15:18; 2 Peter 2:12.
181. Will the dead ever live again?
Answer: See John 5:28, 29; 1 Corinthians 15:12, 22, 23; Acts 17:31; 24:15; Revelation 20:12, 13.
182. Why will all of the dead be raised?
Answer: See 1 Timothy 2:5, 6; Hosea 13:14; Acts 24:14, 15; Luke 9:11; 1 Corinthians 15:13-18.
183. Did Adam alone suffer the death penalty?
Answer: See Romans 5:12, 18; Ezekiel 18:2; 1 Corinthians 15:22; Ecclesiastes 3:20; Romans 3:10, 23.

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GIRL
By Eugene O'Brien
Who Married For Money

FIFTY.

Clothes had come to play a dominating part in Laurel Harwood's existence. Her visits to the modiste shops, her hours with Vogue and Harper's Bazar and the other fashion magazines, were a definite part of her life. She bought new gowns and finery, created new combinations, new effects; drank in the appreciation that Noble's eyes reflected; and felt the exultation of glorifying and worshipping her body. Clothes were her solace; her emotional outlet; her mental retreat; her final and decisive means of expression. She was her own toy as well as Noble's.

Though she might have had a sextette of maids, she was reluctant to have even one about her. She did not allow Ella to dress her, but attended to all of the details herself; relegating the maid to a sort of wardrobe keeper. Her manicuring, her hair-dressing, her chirography she did herself. When her bobbed hair needed trimming, she went to the barber's unwillingly, wishing that she might do it herself.

She spent hours in her bath, and it was as much of a ritual with her as with the old Romans. She felt kindly inclined toward the first Mrs. Harwood because of the bathroom her predecessor had created. It was nearly as large as her dressing-room, and could have accommodated a fireplace. The walls were covered with a French paper patterned with many colored flowers and little mauve temples. The floor was carpeted. Nothing could be more eloquent of modern plumbing, the United States' greatest contribution to civilization, than this fact; a carpet may be safely used in a bathroom! The tub was sunk in the floor, in a mirrored alcove. The washstand was a lacquer cabinet, with marble top and silver dolphins for faucets, and behind the doors below were shelves for toilet articles and linens. Around the walls were strong lights screened by heavy fringes of crystal beads. Mrs. Mary Farr Harwood, in her egotism, had created a bathroom for a goddess—and for a successor in Noble's affections.

Laurel, fresh from her late afternoon hour in the bath, was going over the gowns in her wardrobe with a selective eye, when Ella announced Berenice. Laurel, annoyed by her sister's unexpected call, and particularly at this reserved time, went into the sitting room to give her a cool kiss.

"Please pardon me, dear, until I find a gown to wear."

Berenice followed her to the door of the dressing-room. "How do you find YOUR TROUSSEAU among all these?" she said suggestively.

Laurel, angered by the intrusion as much as the remark, glared at her sister's reflection in the mirror, but did not reply. She deliberately took more time than she needed to choose the dress she wanted to wear to dinner.

It was a gown of Spanish inspiration in white chiffon velvet with rich embroidery all over the front. Deep silk fringe, a subtle mode of drapery reminiscent of a Spanish shawl, formed a particularly graceful line. She was as particular about the lingerie she chose to go with it. It was satin and very lacy and of pale green shade.

When she brought them out, Berenice remarked, "You don't look very well in white. It makes you so colorless."

"That is YOUR opinion, Berenice."

Her sister shrugged. "You always did lack taste about attire." She looked deprecatingly through the door at the racks of gowns and frocks.

"Did you make this unexpected and UNANNOUNCED visit to do me this great favor?"

Berenice, suddenly realizing that she had begun her mission on the wrong track, grew effusive. "Oh, I was just ragging you, old thing. You know very well you look perfectly splendid in white."

Laurel, doubting, sat down and waited. She couldn't bring herself to dress before Berenice. "How is mother?"

"All right. She's helping Mrs. Winston with the bridge club this afternoon."

"Oh, Mrs. Winston has the club today, has she?" Laurel responded, absently, for want of something else to say. What did Berenice want? There was an awkward silence.

"Oh, sis, I have a great plan! A couturiere! I can get the old Ragland home, and leave all the present furnishings in it, and get a lot of antiques, and make it THE shop for women. Give Central City something like that, and they'll fight to get in. No gowns or anything in sight. Dresses brought out for each customer—only there wouldn't be any customers; we'd call them patrons and put on lots of 'dog.' Even though they'd have to pay twice as much as elsewhere, women would flock in, and they'd come here from all the surrounding cities. We'd make it very exclusive, except that anybody with any money to spend could get in."

"We?" Laurel was amused by her sister's explanation and enthusiasm. "Yes, mother and me."

"Do you think Central City is large enough to support an exclusive shop on so large a scale? It's an awfully large house and it would take lots of money to start it. I should think that mother would be shaky about investing so much in such an uncertain enterprise."

"But it isn't uncertain, and besides, maybe Noble would lend—"

Laurel stared. So that was it! "Why," she exclaimed, "I wouldn't allow you to think of doing such a thing."

Berenice, taken back by the vehemence of her sister's protest, asked, "Why not?"

"Why, what is the matter with you! You know we can't ask things like that of Noble!"

To all of this Ella had been a not unwilling listener. Laurel, suddenly remembering her, gave the maid a look that sent her out.

"I won't have you asking favors of Noble," she continued. "It isn't that

Tiffin Rector Points Out Greatest Need Of Modern Churches

TIFFIN, O. — Unity of purpose and ideals is the greatest need of modern day churches, according to Rev. Herman Siderer, rector of Trinity Episcopal church.

"Unity of purpose and ideals," Rev. Siderer declared, "is more important than strict conformity to doctrine or dogma."

"Narrowness and bitterness of feeling, intense in the Master's day, is still found in the minds of many at this time. People place more emphasis upon externals than upon internals, stressing points of difference to the exclusion of points of agreement."

"The church was meant by the Master to be universal, not only in the scope of its mission, but in the content of its message. Consequently, it must be tolerant, open-minded and receptive to the progressive revelation he wouldn't do it, and gladly, but that it oughtn't to be expected of him."

"You're perfectly silly, Laurel. It's not a gift, but a loan."

"Did mother send you here to ask this?" Laurel asked swiftly.

(To be continued.)

In the next instalment: The Pangs of Loneliness.

Death of Rev. William H. Clark

Few, if any, men have won as warm a place in the hearts of the people of their adopted community as the late Rev. William H. Clark, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, whose death yesterday from a stroke of paralysis proved a shock to the East Liverpool district.

From the day he assumed the pastorate of the Thompson boulevard church, nearly 12 years ago, he endeared himself not only to the members of his congregation, but also to those of other religious denominations who admired his strong character and the simplicity of his life.

He practiced as well as preached the commandment, Love thy neighbor as thyself, and his greatest joy came from his unselfishness and a desire to spread happiness in the community in which he was recognized as a great force for good and was known to most of his fellow citizens.

He exemplified Christian love, as he believed in putting the best construction on the words and actions of others. And this virtue marked his keen interest in civic and fraternal activities. Of him it can be said, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

A Southern National Park

The eastern part of the United States has only one real national park, the Lafayette park in Maine. There are a number of military parks such as the battlefields of Vicksburg, Gettysburg, Chickamauga, Chattanooga, Shiloh and a few others.

Now there is a movement started to establish a national park in western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee, in the region of the Great Smoky mountains. It is claimed that this is one of the finest sites for a southern national park because of the height of the mountains, the depth of the valleys and the beauty and variety of the flowers, trees and shrubs all through the section.

One plan proposes the purchase of the site for presentation to the federal government. Citizens of the region are eagerly advocating this. They are proud of the scenic attraction of the place, and they know that the establishment of a national park there will bring a lucrative tide of tourists.

Citizens elsewhere, too, ought to do anything possible to encourage the proposal. We can use more national parks and there is still plenty of splendid scenery available for such use. Every section of the country should be represented with its share of national parks and the people of every section ought to plan at some time in their lives to visit all the others. These fine public playgrounds are ideal recreation places.

The Tobacco Face

According to Joseph Byrns, who ran the national beauty show owners' convention, women if they continue to smoke will come to look like men—which would be a dreadful thing.

Now, don't say that's just what the women are trying to do. Their mannish bobs and more or less masculine clothes are superficial. They always flatter themselves that their femininity shows through the mask. But listen, ladies:

"Features of women who smoke," says this facial expert, "grow sharper as the nicotine habit grows upon them. The skin becomes taut and hollow. The lips lose their rosy color. The corners of the mouth show wrinkles. The lower lip shows a tendency to project beyond the upper lip."

The beauty shop people do what they can to remedy these ravages, with plenty of assistance from the once fair smokers themselves, but somehow it doesn't quite make up for the loss.

So milady is in as serious a dilemma as was Kipling's nicotine-soaked hero. He had to choose between his girl and his cigar. The girl now has to choose between her fag and her looks. Will she decide that a face is only a face, but a cigaret is a smoke?

Washington Jaywalks

Jaywalking is allowed in Washington. That, you may say, is about what might be expected from the provincialism of that pretended center of sophistication. But there's another point to it.

The freedom to jaywalk is established by judicial decision. A local traffic regulation prohibited crossing the streets anywhere but at cross-walks, or in disregard of traffic signs. The police arrested hundreds of persons for ignoring the ordinance. But a municipal court judge knew better. He set all the offenders free, on the ground that the municipal government was "authorized to regulate only vehicular traffic, and not pedestrians."

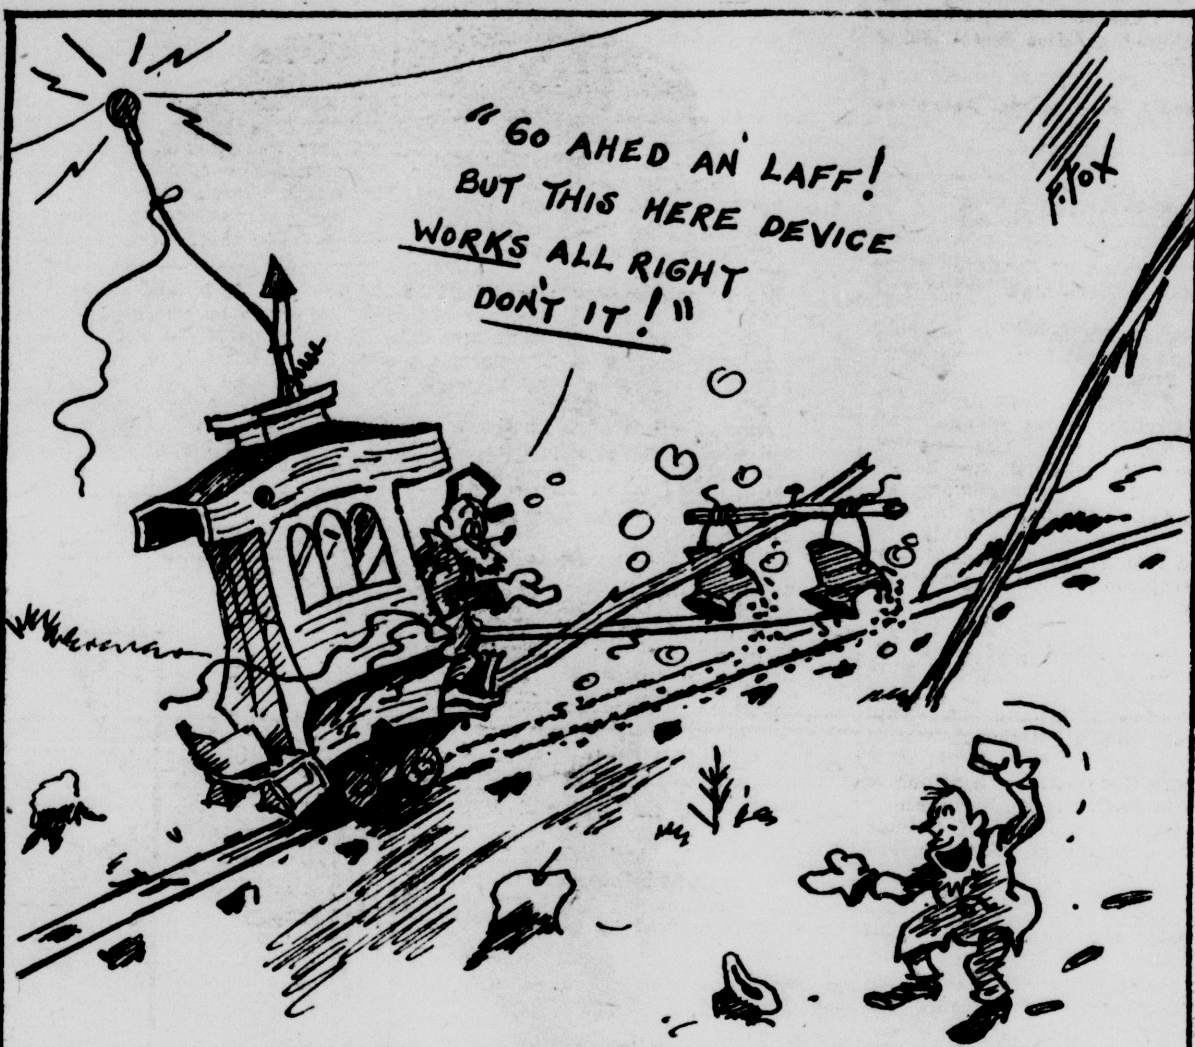

Entirely ignoring, by the way, the fact that it's impossible to regulate wheel traffic without regulating foot traffic, because each hinders the other unless they keep their places and take their turns. Also assuming that a citizen has more rights when he's walking in front of a driver than when he's driving in front of a walker.

Grand opera is musical entertainment in which a Russian performer sings French drama, on a German theme, in the Italian language, to an American audience.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Restoring Fort McHenry.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 16.—In compliance with an Act of Congress March 3, 1925, authorizing the restoration of Fort McHenry to its approximate condition in 1812, the quartermaster general has begun work on the project.

The act authorized the sale of the temporary and other buildings used during the World war. The proceeds of this sale, not to exceed the sum of $50,000, are to be used in the work of restoring this old fort to its former condition and to making it a national monument.

Citizens of Baltimore, who had been most active in boosting this idea, employed an engineer to make an estimate of what price the buildings might bring. He thought that $50,000 might be expected that was also estimated as the cost of the necessary work. The office of the quartermaster general says, however, that this did not work out in this way. The buildings brought something over $25,000. This, therefore, is the amount available but not appropriated.

The office of the quartermaster general is taking a deep interest in this project, and there is more work required than might appear at first glance. In order that the fort may be restored as near its 1812 condition as possible it is necessary to do a great amount of research work. There are evidences that many changes have been made in the old star fort owing to changed requirements. Here a door has been sealed and there a gallery or balcony has been removed. No doubt there are many changes not so apparent without study. A close study will be made of all available records and histories of the fort. Any pictures of Fort McHenry at that time will be closely scrutinized.

About 80 buildings have now been sold and work has been started on their demolition. It is probable that this will take several months so that work of parking the grounds can not be commenced until some time in April. No definite plan for the parking of the grounds has yet been formulated.

A Long and Honorable History.

Fort McHenry has had a long and honorable history. Old land records indicate that in 1662 Charles Gorsuch of the Society of Friends took up and patented 50 acres of land on Whetstone Point. Part of this tract is the site of Fort McHenry. On May 17, 1800, this ground was deeded to the state of Maryland by one William Goodwin. In August of the same year it was conveyed to the United States for $5,000.

The first purchase of any part of this land by the federal government appears to have been on July 20, 1795, under authority of Act of Congress of March 20, 1794. Additional ground was purchased in 1798, 1800, 1836 and 1837. This tract now comprises about 45 acres.

Early in the Revolutionary war the provincial convention of Baltimore ordered the construction of defensive works at Baltimore and the fortification of the present site of Fort McHenry was begun. By spring of 1776 there was a force of 250 negroes employed in providing timber, logs, etc., for the erection of a boom between Whetstone Point and the Lazaretto. Batteries were built and guns mounted.

When on March 5, 1776, the British sloop of war Otter with several tenders appeared in Chesapeake Bay there was great consternation at Baltimore and the council of safety took steps to hasten the completion of defenses at Whetstone Point. An additional chain was stretched across the narrow neck of the harbor, supported by 21 schooners. Upon the withdrawal of the Otter this was removed, and upon the return of peace the entire works were abandoned.

Early in the administration of President Washington serious complications arose between the United States and Great Britain because of complaints made of depredations upon British commerce by American privateers carrying French flags. This irritation grew out of the vague provisions of the treaty of 1793 in relation to cession of lands and military posts in the northwest. For a while war appeared imminent, although eventually these and other differences were settled by diplomacy.

When it seemed that the United States might again become involved in a war with Great Britain, Washington recommended that serious preparations be made for offense and defense. Accordingly the citizens of Baltimore commenced at their own expense the erection of a star fort on Whetstone Point. And this was the beginning of Fort McHenry as it now stands.

Named for War Secretary. Under Act of Congress, March 20, 1794, this old star fort passed to the general, or federal government, the Maryland legislature having already given its consent. It was named for James McHenry, who was one of George Washington's private secretaries during the Revolutionary war, and who afterwards became secretary of war. It was at this time that the fort became a permanent military post. The fortification works were not completed until 1805, and the formal cession of this property from the state to the federal government did not take place until 1816.

Of course the high light in the history of Fort McHenry was its successful withstanding of the British bombardment in 1814. This story is familiar to every school child, however, because it was this that inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star Spangled Banner" which immediately sprang into a popularity which has continued through the years. This victory also won for Baltimore the distinction of being the only great seaport on the Atlantic coast which has never been occupied by an enemy.

During the Civil war Fort McHenry was again fortified. On the night of May 13, 1861, an elevation called Federal Hill was occupied by troops under the command of Major General Butler, and the following month a strong fort was erected there. A number of other works were also constructed but these were all abandoned at the close of the war.

In April, 1861, an attempt was made by Confederate sympathizers to gain possession of Fort McHenry but they were repulsed by a garrison of 100 recruits commanded by Captain Robinson.

During the World War General Hospital No. 2 was located at Fort McHenry and plastic facial surgery and reconstruction work was done there. This hospital had a capacity of about 3,000 beds. After the war it was turned over to the Veterans Bureau and specialized in the care and rehabilitation of those who had lost their sight in the great war.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Society shop-keeping has passed the faddier stage and is stern realism for many shops that must compete with them for bon ton trade. A few of the society shops have lasted but a short while, but in the main they have endured.

Women whose names have brightened the social world seem to long for the business whirl when the social rattle dazle palls. The men have a flair for opening haberdashery shops and the women for specialty shops, featuring lingerie, toilet articles and millinery.

They usually locate in the fashionable Fifties or the ground floors of exclusive Park Avenue apartment buildings. They at first make their appeal to whatever personal following they may have, knowing a few social greats will bring tumbling sheep.

In one block on Madison Avenue a hat shop, antique shop and flower store are operated by women of the Four Hundred. None of them is suffering from shrunken income. They have merely found life a shade dull and sought to kill off ennui in trade.

While they are not active in the management they drop around daily to see if all is well. A competing shopkeeper to one sends out a circular which contains this rather futile wail:

"I founded my business to aid building a home for my family and to educate two sons and a daughter. I haven't the background of wealth and family name. I am competing with people to whom increased trade or gain of money means nothing. While they chase a fad, I struggle to survive."

A perusal of the telephone book reveals about 30 social greats who are now lending their names to trade and there are hundreds who do not loan their names to enterprises they sponsor. It seems to me a healthy sign. For many years soap box evangelists have been wailing about the rich and social idle. Well, they have gone to work.

Superstition is amazingly tenacious at times. There is a man at one of the New York hospitals who has roamed the seven seas for twenty years. He has visited every port and now suffers from a lung trouble. He believes firmly he is the victim of an East African curse. He offended a tribe of natives there two years ago and the leader pronounced upon him the ancient Masia malediction: "May you never spit white again!" A year after a cold ended in pneumonia and weak lungs. He traces it all to the native's curse.

In the sweatshops of the East Side, tuberculosis is called "spitting rubies." Workers are usually warned of their fate by a sudden mouthful of blood. Reform has worked much change for better among sweatshops in the way of light and clean air, but there are still dank holes where pasty faced men and women bend over whirling machines all day long.

In a little window of a shop on Allen street, a dried up man with eyes like black beads rolls cigarets. For many years I have seen him at various times—by sunlight and the flickering of a gas jet. He seems haggard and very old and now and then peers out cynically at passersby as though to say: "I am still alive." His skin is leathery and his sunken cheeks give him the appearance of some beaked vulture.

The Brevoort now has a brace of American elevators and rooms with private baths, thus modernizing the last of the hotels with quaint old-world customs. Monsieur le proprietaire still greets guests with bows in the lobby and there is a rack gay with French felleutions, but the Brevoort now takes its competitive place with modern hotels. The Lafayette tries to retain its French atmosphere and does in a fashion. It was the first French restaurant in town, opening some 40 years ago, around the corner from the Brevoort.

TAX COMMISSION CALLED TO MEET

Governor Gore has called a meeting of the special commission to study the tax situation in West Virginia for next Monday at Charleston.

Telegrams calling the meeting were sent out by the governor to members of the commission yesterday.

Members of the commission are D. A. Bart, Republican, Wheeling, chairman; J. M. Long, Democrat, Huntington; J. H. Crawford, Republican, Parkersburg; James E. Jones, Republican, Welch; E. H. Arnold, Democrat, Elkins; H. P. Henshaw, Democrat, Berkeley, county; Virgil L. Highland, Republican, Clarksburg.

The commission was appointed by Governor Gore December 12 to make a study of taxes in West Virginia and to report in time for the next session of the legislature. The commission was authorized by resolutions passed by the extraordinary sessions of the legislature on June 6, 1925.

COAL OUTPUT SETS NEW HIGH RECORD

Coal output of West Virginia has rapidly increased since the advent of the anthracite strike in the Pennsylvania coal fields. Large shipment of bituminous coal is now being made to eastern cities which have in the past always depended on the hard coal supply.

Number of large operators are of the opinion that after the strike is settled there will still be a market for soft coal in the eastern section of the country.

NEW CHRYSLER CAR ON MARKET

Imperial "80" Exhibited by Simms Motor Company.

The eagerly-awaited car whose coming has been forecast in interviews in America and Europe the past few months with Walter P. Chrysler—the new Chrysler Imperial "80"—is now for the first time exhibited to the public at the New York Automobile show.

Heading the Chrysler lineup of cars, the others being the Chrysler "70" and the Chrysler "58," it is the center of attraction to persons interested in motor cars, whose knowledge of the significance attaching to successive Chrysler announcements has led them justly to expect something altogether phenomenal in a car heralded as constructed to the specification "as fine as money can build."

In offering this new line, Mr. Chrysler has been actuated by a desire to meet the demands of those who wanted Chrysler performance in a car of larger measure. The new Imperial "80" is a development of the Chrysler "70" with refinements and improvements arising out of long continued experiment and research with design and materials of the highest type by the engineering department.

The new Imperial "80" heads the line exhibited by the Simms Motor company of East Liverpool.

More than $500,000,000 is saved annually by American manufacturers with an outlay of $35,000,000 for research work.

Thirty per cent of the mouth organs exported by Germany are sent to the United States.

Company Acts as Coroner and State Begin Inquiries.

FARMINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 16.—The disaster at mine No. 8, of the Jamison Coal & Coke company, which exacted a toll of 19 lives and entombed 21 other miners for 20 hours, will be investigated by three separate agencies, it was announced today.

Coroner L. C. Fitzhugh, with a jury already sworn in, started the first investigation this morning. Until the mine has been cleared of all poisonous gas, he will confine his probe to questioning survivors and officials of the coal company.

Company officials announced their own investigation of the cause of the disaster would be started immediately. R. M. Lambie, chief of the state department of mines, expects to begin his inquiry early next week. Meanwhile, he will cooperate with the coroner in gathering statements of survivors.

counts payable or otherwise, with the dates of maturity.

3.—All balances and accounts receivable on December 31, 1925, applicable to payment of the indebtedness. The state auditor then shall certify to each taxing district, and to the auditor of the county in which the district is situated, the amount of its net deficiency on December 31 last last, allocated between the several funds of the district.

Other Provisions.

The taxing authorities of the district may include in their budgets for the five years ending with 1931 a sum equal to the net deficiency and levy a tax therefor. The proceeds from this levy shall be applied to making up the deficiencies.

Or, these taxing officials may pass a resolution holding that in the issuance of notes maturing not later than December 31, 1927, funding the net deficiency is necessary.

The bill, also provides that in case the amount required for sinking fund purposes is more than four mills, all above four mills shall be placed outside of all limitations.

This latter provision, it was stated, is designed especially to relieve the situation at Lima occasioned by the issuance of bonds for sewer construction.

Governor's Action Uncertain.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16.—Uncertainty existed today relative to the attitude Governor Donahay will take toward the Baxter emergency act which was passed by overwhelming majorities at a brief session of the Ohio legislature here Friday. The bill is designed to afford immediate relief to financially distressed municipalities, counties, school districts and other local taxing units.

The measure is not expected to reach the governor until sometime next week. It must first be printed, ordered and signed by the presiding officers of the senate and house.

Officials at the governor's office said Donahay will not decide whether he will sign it, veto it, or permit it to become a law without his signature until after he has studied the bill.

Speaker Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati, has publicly registered his opposition to reconvening the legislature for the purpose of passing the Baxter bill if Governor Donahay vetoes it. The act will become effective as law immediately upon being filed in the secretary of state's office, or permits it to go on the statute books without his approving signature.

Masons Hear Musicales

aid, of this city, feelingly sang "Jesus Lover of My Soul" to the tune of the Welsh hymn "Aberystwydd" with all present standing and lulled into a personal realization of the solemnity of the moment which at the outset of the serving about the festival board had been begun by the reference made to his co-laborer's demise by Dr. Donald MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who attended the event long enough to perform the part that had originally been delegated to the dead minister.

In periods of two hours each the tripartite affair was conducted from 8 o'clock being devoted to dining, from 8 to 10 o'clock to singing and from the latter hour to midnight to dancing. Thrice the entire number of attendants moved en masse to the different floors on which these features were conducted.

The signal departure of the musical program given by the Welsh Male chorus of Youngstown, 18 strong, which was augmented by Messrs. Wilbur Newman, Joseph Lawton, Claude Emmett Gaston, Rowland Kaufman, Edward Adams, H. Dan Smith and Wilbur George, of this city, pleased the filled third floor auditorium and gallery. The accompanist was Miss Lucille Orin, of East Liverpool, whose work was so meticulously and accurately done as to cause a member of the Youngstown contingent to aver before the final number: "We are greatly indebted to Miss Orin for her superior work on this occasion, particularly since two-thirds of it has been done by first sight reading."

Splendid Program.

From the opening of the Male Chorus with the vehicle, "Comrades in Arms," by Adams, the piece showing the marvelous tonal qualities of the singles with the ensuing encore, "The Jolly Roger," to the climax of the entertainment, "The Crusaders," by D. Frotheroe, in which the descriptive features of this outstanding contribution made possible a rare exhibition of their artistic, finished style in the interpretation of the spirit that animated the activities which the composer sought to convey, the hearers were held spellbound.

This number brought into play all the capabilities of the director, Mr. Macdonald, who with every movement of hand, body and facial expression drew with precision and maximum quality the prescribed tone that carried vividly to the hearers the depths of the ideas which it was meant to carry.

Equally arresting was the martial number, "Men of Harlech," by Glendore, Robert's composition, in which the resonance of voices and their perfect blending made for a rendition that was marvelous in the spirit evolved.

The ballad, "I Passed By Your Window," exhibited also the grace and precision of the ensemble of voices.

All of the choral offerings were endorsed save the final number, "The Crusader," the audience seemingly wishing to conclude such a program with the reaction its music and spiritual effects had developed.

Miss Weaver Soloist.

Particularly gracious and cordial was the greeting the hearers of Miss Mildred Weaver, of this city, whose long time capabilities with violin and organ have been shared in her constantly growing accomplishments as a soprano vocalist. In "Ah, Love But a Day" by Beach she displayed again her artistry with her appealing, sympathetic voice. She was forced to encore and equally pleased in her offering, "Years Ago" by Harvey Gaul.

Miss Weaver also added to her evening's success in her appearance in a duet with Rowland T. Kaufman when they sang "The Indian Love Song" which they were compelled to repeat in part as an encore. Mr. Kaufman's natural tenor tonal qualities was wonderfully shown in the selection utilized. Both were given a generous reception.

The Orpheus Mixed quartet, composed of Miss Mildred Weaver, Mrs. S. H. Zengerick, Mr. Kaufman, and Mr. Macdonald, likewise elicited praiseworthy comments as the result of their well balanced voices, their singular style and splendid interpretation of "The Sea Hath Its Pearls," by Circo-Pinsuti, and "Good Night Beloved," by the same composer.

The Youngstown men more than met up with their advance notices. They carried the well known tradition of the ability of Welshmen to sing. Owing to the death of his mother, Evan Williams, scheduled to contribute a solo, was unable to be present. His place was taken by Bert Williams, who read "Not Understood" and "Wilfred Denver's Dream from 'The Silver King.'" Mr. Williams' interpretation of the two compositions made for an accentuation of the seriousness attending the evening due to the loss that the body had entertained. He was well received.

A duet by Arthur Hopkins and James Morrison, "Garden of Happiness," followed by "May I Come to You," a bass solo by B. Stanford Williams, "Bells of the Sea," and his encore, "Shipmates of Mine," and a heroic solo, "Invictus," Bruno-Hahn, served to indicate conclusively the high musical standard attained by the Mahoning county visitors.

Temple Sisterhood Serves Dinner.

Prepared and served by the Temple Sisterhood of B'nai Israel of East Liverpool, the dinner was in keeping with the high standard of all done at the evening's festivities. The diners with few exceptions sat down promptly at 6 o'clock and almost two full hours were devoted to the delicious menu arranged which began with fruit cocktail and ran the gamut of the season to ice cream, which ended in puff puffs and embellished between by roast turkey, sage dressing, mashed potatoes and mixed vegetables, delectable, yet delicate, rolls, fruit sherbet, celery, olives, butter, coffee and cigars. In direct charge of the banquet was Mrs. Richtersburg and her committee.

The Sturgis orchestra furnished the music during the dancing period.

All of the rooms utilized were decorated with potted plants and season flowers.

The committee in charge of the event consisted of Messrs. J. J. Purinton, G. B. Phillips, R. H. Perry, J. M. Blazer, J. T. Crowell, C. C. Davidson, James Hodekinson, George C. Thompson, John Stamm and D. F. Nellis.

GENEVA SQUAD DOWNS CHESTER

College Floor Passers
Score Victory Over
Wild's Charges.

Geneva College Reserves proved too much for Chester high basketball team here last night, downing Coach Wild's passers by a score of 53 to 28. The visitors led from start to finish. Chester Ex-high girls won the preliminary game from High girls, score 14 to 12.

Geneva five showed up strong in every department and early in the game demonstrated to the assembled fans that they were one of the fastest floor aggregations that ever played here. Chester, pitted against this formidable aggregation, put up a stubborn defense and gave a fine exhibition in the face of heavy odds.

Bruce opened the game for the visitors by caging a field goal on a running shot. He was fouled in making the basket and added two more points on free throws. Elliott and Simpson scored field goals before Campbell broke the ice for Chester with a double decker. Sampson scored a goal from the field and Lattiano followed with another from the center of the floor. Campbell scored a field goal and the first quarter ended with the score standing 12 to 5 in favor of Geneva.

Sampson started the second period by scoring a field goal on a side shot. Campbell scored from the center of the floor. Sampson, Elliott and Lattiano scored two pointers. Simcox made good on a free throw. Lloyd took Sampson's place at forward. Bruce scored two more field goals for Geneva. Miller counted from the foul line, while Lattiano scored a field goal for the visitors which ended the period and half with the score 28 to 9.

McKinney and Kay took the places of Brown and Lattiano when the third period opened. Bruce and Lloyd made field goals. Pinney and Campbell shot field goals in rapid succession. Lloyd scored for the visitors and Campbell came back with another two pointer. Lloyd and McKinney scored field goals for Geneva, while Miller added two field goals and Pinney one to Chester's total. The score at the end of this quarter was 36 to 19.

McKinney scored the first points of the final quarter by caging a shot from under the basket. He was fouled and also scored from the free line. Lloyd scored another basket and Simcox tossed in a double decker for Chester. Brown, Campbell and Tuttle tossed field goals. Sampson scored twice from the field. Miller tossed a foul. Lloyd, McKinney and Sampson scored from the field and Campbell made Chester's final score with a field shot.

Sampson, Bruce and Lloyd were high high scorers for Geneva, while Campbell with six field goals to his credit was the star for Chester. Pinney, Tuttle and Miller also performed in fine style for the locals.

Chester high girls lost a hard fought game to Ex-High by two points. McElravy was the high scorer for Ex-High, while Miss McCoy carried off like honors for High.

Make old age
more comfortable

OLD age is not a matter of years alone. Many folks feel younger at 70 than others at 60. Too many old folks are worried with backache, rheumatic pains and kidney irregularities. At such times a stimulant diuretic is helpful. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are recommended by thousands of elderly folks. Are endorsed here at home. Ask your neighbor!

's an East Liverpool Case:
Lena H. Cochran, 248 Church Alley, says: "A sharp pain in my back almost doubled me up. I got dizzy and always felt tired and worn out. It was hard for me to pass the kidney secretions, for they ached. I used Doan's Pills from Larkin's Drug Store and the trouble left."

A. This revolutionary idea did not originate with Penn, but with the Bishop of London.
Q. What can be done to keep pancakes from sticking to an aluminum griddle? H. M. A.
A. Add a little extra butter to the batter.
Q. What countries were signatory to the Locarno treaty? J. E. M.
A. Great Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Italy, Czechoslovakia and Poland.
Q. How are modern newspapers printed? F. S.
A. Rotary presses, which are used by most large newspapers today, print from curved plates fixed on cylinders, which are constantly revolving and constantly printing. They are not fed with single sheets, but with a long web of paper, the press itself cutting off the desired length of sheet from the reel, either before or after the printing is completed. Practically all these presses have folding attachments which deliver the paper folded and ready for delivery. The simplest form has four cylinders, two for the stereo plates and two to give the impression, but as newspapers have grown in size it has been necessary to add one, two, or three rows of cylinders above the first set. Presses are run at such great speed that some turn out 48,000 28-page papers per hour.

Q. What kind of timber is it which grows in the Philippines and is used as a substitute for mahogany? L. C. H.
A. The red lauans of the Philippine Islands are used in Europe and America as substitutes for mahogany. The wood is not so hard and durable as mahogany, but it has a beautiful grain and permits of a fine polish.
Q. Is Lincoln's home still standing? K. T.
A. The home in which Lincoln lived in Springfield, Ill., is still in existence as is the log cabin which he was born. The latter is in the vicinity of Hodgenville, Ky.
Q. What kind of flour is best for bread and what kind for cake and pastry? W. H.
A. The Department of Agriculture says that yeast breads can be made more easily and oftentimes more successfully from the so-called strong flours milled from hard wheat. This is because they contain a comparatively large quantity and high quality of gluten, the substance that enables the dough to stretch and hold within it the gas bubbles formed by the yeast during fermentation. Soft-wheat flours, on the other hand, contain less gluten and it does not have the elastic quality of that in hard wheat. However, for cake, pastry and quick breads, in which tenderness is of prime importance, this is desirable.
Q. What is the origin of the term "grass-widow"? W. L. B.
A. Authorities have never definitely been able to trace the origin of the term "grass-widow." It is to be found in many languages. Some believe that it is a corrupted form of "grace-widow," that is "widow by the grace of circumstances." There are no facts to substantiate this belief, however. According to Dr. Brewer, the modern use of the term seems to have originated among Anglo-Indians about the middle of the 19th century from the practice of European husbands sending wives to the hills during the hot season in India. In this section the grass is plentiful. Another suggestion is that it arose in America during the gold rush in California. A man not infrequently put his wife and children to board while he went to the diggings. This he called "putting his wife to grass" as a horse is put to grass when not in use for work.

WHY YOU SHOULD USE
PLATE GLASS
FOR ALL MOTOR CAR
REPLACEMENTS

Plate glass is the one kind of glass to use for motor car replacements because it is true, clear and free from troubles. It has no wavy lines that curl and swirl. It hasn't any rainbow prisms, nor any humps or hollows. It makes driving easy because it helps the eye work naturally, as it should. You don't have to strain nor squint through Plate glass. It doesn't repeat objects ahead of you.

Plate glass goes into windshield or door without being pushed or forced. That saves time and trouble and means quick delivery of your car. Plate glass is worked in the making much as a carpenter works wood. So it is even-surfaced and reliable. It makes your windshield or window tell the truth, every time. And Plate glass stands road shocks and vibration. That eases up on the cost to you.

Suffered Ten Years,
Then Found Relief

Norwalk, Ohio—"I have tried most all kinds of medicines but got no relief till I took Dr. Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric-acid) Tablets. I had been troubled with kidney trouble for ten years. My back was so bad that I could scarcely walk and my ankles were so swollen that I could scarcely lace my shoes. After taking the tablets for three months the swelling was gone. I can now do all my hard work myself. I know if other poor sufferers will use these tablets right they will get well. For me, I cannot say too much for them, for the good they have done me."—Mrs. A. TAX ABSTRACT
IS COMPILED

Copy Now on File in
Office of Auditor
C. E. Hamilton.

Total taxes levied during 1925, including delinquencies and forfeitures of former years, total $3,030,963.53, according to the annual abstract that has just been compiled by County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton and his assistants. A copy of the abstract has been forwarded to Columbus, and a copy is now on file in the office of the county auditor.

Total county taxes levied on the present duplicate total $671,418.40 and township taxes levied amount to $203,743.29.

City, village, township and special school district levies total $863,040.71, while exempted city and village school district levies have been totaled at $201,844.02 and the abstract for other than city and village exempted district total $134,499.99.

City and village taxes levied amount to $481,412.07 and the total taxes levied by the uniform rate reach the total of $2,577,689.44.

County special assessments to be collected this year amount to $44,997.64; township special assessments $20,769.69 and municipal special assessments $149,658.17.

Total taxes and assessments on the 1925 duplicate total $2,792,114.94.

Delinquent taxes on real estate and of former years and personal property amount to $117,207.16 and delinquent taxes of 1924 on the personal property list amounts to $120,641.43.

The abstract sheet also discloses there has been levied of county taxes for world war compensation sinking fund $31,730.56.

Other taxes levies have been recorded as follows:

County fund, $145,579.84; poor fund, $29,192.12; children's home fund, $15,130.67; bridge fund, $19,038.34; building fund, $3,807.67; indigent soldiers' fund, $7,615.34; county debt fund, $101,537.82; election fund, $5,076.89; road fund two mill levy, $253,844.64; road repair fund, $19,038.34; blind relief fund, $15,230.67; judicial fund, $24,115.23; mothers' pension fund, $11,423; tuberculosis hospital fund, $19,038.39; agricultural society fund, $1,649.99.

There has been a marked decline in the valuation of personal property returned for taxation from the records of former years, it being disclosed that this valuation was higher when assessors were employed in the field than by leaving the filing of these returns by the individual.

Suit Instituted.

High Passers Are Ousted From Lead In County Cage Circuit

Salem Wins Despite Final Half Rally By Blue and White Five

Lorah's Lads Fail to Get Single Field Goal in First Half of Clash, When Visitors Register 21 Points; Lead Too Big to Overcome as Locals Play up to Form Before End of Game.

Whether it was overconfidence, or too many examinations this week, or an off night, or just because, or a combination of all these things, will probably remain a secret with local high school basketballers, but the fact remains that Salem high passers handed Coach Lorah's Blue and White quint the biggest surprise jolt they've run into this season when they got away with a 35 to 27 decision, topped the locals from the tie for county leadership and went into the lead last night on the Ceramic City court.

The contest was unique in that the East Liverpool team did not make a field goal in the first half. If there had been a "no trespassing" sign on the East Liverpool basket in that first half, the ball would not have avoided the hoop more consistently as it did.

It is questionable whether the Blue and White passers themselves knew just what was the matter. Passwork was erratic and spasmodic. There was no sign of a definite plan of attack. Coffee and his cohorts were filtering through the local defense and were scoring at the rate of one field goal every two minutes, ordinarily not impressive, but quite effective when the other side is unable to locate the hoop at all.

Off nights will come to most any team, but this particular one chose an extremely inopportune time to visit. It cost East Liverpool an important game.

Salem played consistently throughout the game, although their scoring proclivities were checked to a great extent in the second half when Lorah's lads played at least partly up to the standard of which they are capable.

The visitors registered 21 points in the first half against six by the locals. In the final half, the Red and Black scored 14 points—just seven field goals—while the locals were making 21.

In the last half, the Blue and White looked more like itself. The white jerseys began to stream down the court in the old time form and the leather began to swishing through the net, with practically every member of the squad contributing to the rally which, however, got started too late and behind too big a lead.

Coffee was the main spring in the Salem attack and defense. He registered four field goals and played the chief role in defensive movements.

Girls' Friendly Sextet Victors

St. Stephens Lassies Down M. E. Players, 16 to 15.

The Girls' Friendly Society basketball team of the St. Stephens church defeated the M. E. girls in a close contest last night on the St. Stephens court. The score was 16 to 15.

The game was a nip and tuck affair from start to finish, the winner being in doubt until the final whistle. The St. Stephens sextet displayed flashy team work with Misses Finney, Bailey and Simpson leading in the scoring.

Misses Marsh, Cochran and Roush starred for the losers.

FIFTH AVENUE HERE TONIGHT

Pittsburghers Booked for Clash With High.

Having gotten a bad one off their chest last night, Lorah's high school passers will clash with Fifth Avenue high of Pittsburgh tonight on the local court.

The Pittsburgh aggregation is one of the foremost contenders in the Smoky City scholastic circuit and will prove a tough foe for the locals.

The first game, between the High Reserves and the "Y" Intermediates, is scheduled to start at 6:45. The main go will get under way at 7:45.

Basketball Results At Columbus—Aquinas, 16; West High, 15.

ACTION IN 18.1 RANKS CERTAIN

Four Stars to Take Part in Billiard Tourney.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—With the return of Young Jake Schaefer and Willie Hoppe to New York from the world's 18.2 balkline challenge match in Chicago, it was learned that there is certain to be some action in the 18.1 balkline division before the season ends.

Early last month, or shortly after the first Horemans-Schaefer match, Hoppe disclosed that he had received challenges from both Schaefer and Horemans for his 18.1 balkline crown and that he had received an offer of $10,000 from Florida promoters who wished to stage the match.

The new plan, however, will be more pretentious than the earlier one, which would have the title decided in match play. The present proposal calls for a four-cornered tournament which would be decided in three nights of play, with the two survivors of the first two nights of action meeting on the final evening for the championship.

The players who would qualify for this championship under the latest proposal would be Hoppe, the defender, Schaefer, Horemans and Erich Hagenlacher.

Three cities have been selected tentatively as scenes of the action, with New York, Philadelphia and Chicago mentioned. However, everything seems to favor New York, with Madison Square Garden as the home of the classic. According to the billiard officials who have been working on the plans, the Garden could be so arranged as to have at least 10,000 seats within range of the table.

It is a difficult task to get a place large enough for billiard matches and at the same time enable the spectator to see the game with any degree of satisfaction. But those who already have done some investigating work seem satisfied that the Garden is well qualified to hold such a tournament.

Hoppe said yesterday that he was willing to defend his championship, even under the proposed four-cornered system, providing the financial inducements were satisfactory. It also is known that both Schaefer and Horemans are anxious to compete for this crown. Schaefer is ambitious to hold both titles, while Horemans, who will not get another chance for the 18.2 crown until the next tournament, in 1927, is anxious to return to his home in Belgium this summer the holder of some world championship.

April Seems Logical Time. No date has been set for the 18.1 title play, but it is unlikely that it will be held until after the next challenge match for the world's 18.2 championship, which will be held at the Manufacturers' club in Philadelphia during the first or second week in March. This means that around the first of April would be the ideal time for the tourney.

Pirates are Victors

The East Liverpool Pirates defeated the Wellsville River Rats, 29 to 22, last night on the M. E. court at Wellsville.

Dapper Georges Appears Glad to Visit U. S. Again

This photo of Georges Carpentier, once challenger for Jack Dempsey's title and long the fistic idol of France, was taken since his arrival here a few days ago. He's here on business, which will consist of helping manage some foreign fighters and fighting, if offered the proper inducements.

PIPP MAY GET REGULAR JOB

Will Probably Start at First Sack for Reds.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The passing of Wally Pipp, veteran first baseman of the New York Yankees to the National league, was viewed with some surprise today by local fans, the opinion being held that Pipp would have come in handy to at least three American league clubs, the Indians, Red Sox and Athletics.

His purchase at the waiver price by the Cincinnati Reds was taken to mean that Pipp will have a regular job this season. As the Reds are believed to be dissatisfied with the work of Rube Bressler, Walter Holke and Al Niehaus at first base.

Pipp was a star first baseman for the Yankees from 1915 until last season when he fell off in his hitting and was replaced by Lou Gehrig.

POWERS LAND TWELFTH GAME

Beat Armour Stars, 41-36, on M. E. Church Court.

The Power Five won its twelfth game out of 14 starts last night by beating the fast Armour Stars on the M. E. floor by a score of 41-36. The playing of Jester, Bucher and Ashbaugh for the Powers was the feature of the game. The first half ended with a 22-17 score in favor of the Powers. The lineup:

DELANEY VICTOR OVER YOUNG BOB

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Jack Delaney, Bridgeport, Conn., contender for the light heavyweight title and New York's most popular boxer, won the decision over young Bob Fitzsimmons at the end of 10 rounds last night, but lost some of the favor in which he is held by local fans. Through no fault of Delaney's, the bout was a slow one, Fitzsimmons being notorious for the fact that he is hard man with which to make a showing.

The only excitement of the match was confined to the fourth round when Fitzsimmons suffered the first knockdown of his career from a right to the jaw, pulling Delaney over with him. He later tried hard to finish his man but couldn't find a vital spot.

In the latter rounds, Fitzsimmons' floundering and deceptive style placed real action at a premium and the fans jeered both principals. Delaney gave away 174 pounds in weight, scaling at 168 against Fitzsimmons' 158.

E. Culler Tops Rifle Shooters

Hits 46 Out of 50 Targets in Gun Club Meet.

With 46 hits out of 50, E. Culler led East Liverpool Rifle club marksmen in their regular shoot last night at the River Road Power house. The scores were made at 50 yards, off hand, using regulation targets and small bore rifles.

The scores: E. Culler, 46 out of 50; C. C. Raber, 43; W. McClelland, 42; C. Jacobs, 26; H. Stewart, 47; T. Snowdon, 35; E. W. Brand, 20; G. Brand, 21; B. C. Jameson, 34; W. A. Rinner, 45.

NET CHAMP DUE AT CANNES TODAY

PARIS, Jan. 16.—Miss Helen Willis, American tennis star, has left for the Riviera and is due to arrive at Cannes today.

Miss Willis expects to start training immediately and announces that she will seize the first opportunity to enter tournament play, but will only play in doubles at first.

"I expect to go slowly at first and do not intend to overstrain myself," Miss Willis said. "I am hopeful of meeting Mlle. Lenglen, but I have no idea as to when or where we may meet."

MOUNT-WOOSTER CONTEST ON AIR

WOOSTER, Jan. 16.—WABW, the broadcasting station of Wooster college, which has a wave length of 207 meters, will broadcast the basketball game with Mount Union to be played in Severance gymnasium at Wooster college tonight. The game will start at 8 o'clock sharp. All of the basketball game on the home schedule are to be broadcast over the station installed by Prof. F. C. Sley, of the physics department of Wooster college.

Last Night's Fights

At St. Paul, Minn.—Dave Shade, of California, outpointed Jack Malone, of St. Paul, in 10 rounds. Clyde Hull of Falth, S. D., shaded Sammy Leonard, of Minneapolis, in 8 rounds. Jack McCann, of St. Paul, and Jack King, of Winnipeg, drew in six.

At East Chicago, Bobby Barrett, Philadelphia, knocked out Frankie Welsh, Chicago, in five rounds. They are welterweights.

CRITICS PAN GOLF RULERS

Claim "High Hatting" in Picking Walker Team.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—That small minority, which can't seem to take its squawk or let it alone, has opened quite a sizable can of asparagus tips all over the official selections for the Walker cup team, announced with pardonable self-approval by the United States golf association several days ago.

One local critic frankly intimates that some members of the team were named largely because they know what the well dressed man will wear before he wears it and further suggests that entirely too much emphasis has been placed on the value of the drawing room manner. This critic seems to feel that there is quite a lot of high hatting going on in these parts. This is for the benefit of Chick Evans.

Another declares that the team should not have been named at all but its identity withheld until the British nominations were in. His idea is that, with the cup matches coming after the British amateur event, the English can name the men who are at the top of their stride at the moment while the Americans will be bound to their original selections.

He also bleats mildly over the fact that Bob Gardner and Jesse Guilford were chosen instead of Evans and Keefe Carter, but seems inclined to let the issue, if any, go by default.

Not so with his brother critic. This one has a real grievance, and after establishing a case for Evans as "being one of three amateurs who have in the past two years led fields in which the world's best amateur and professional talent was entered," deploys into action thus:

"When Mr. Evans lost his money a year or so back did he lose his golfing skill? We hardly thing the record will show any such loss. Last summer, during the Amateur championship 'sixteen fiasco,' Chick for the first time in sixteen years failed to qualify as did Francis Quimble and a number of other great golfers. Later, Evans led the field in the open at Wichita with a score of 281. Chick played through the entire year, averaging approximately 70 for the whole season. From the standpoint of a finished golfer, he never played in better form.

"If this Walker cup team is to be a purely social matter, why bother with Francis Quimble, George Von Elm and Jesse Guilford? They all have sprung from the caddy ranks and make no claim for social rating."

Gossip for Motorists!

The Following Conversation May be Heard in Any Neighborhood in East Liverpool

Frank Ford (to his neighbor, Bill Buick): "Say, Bill, why is it that your oil bus seems to have so much pep these days? Did you put new glands in it?" Bill Buick: "New glands, your eye. Don't you know the reason why? Where have you been for the last six months? The reason why my car is so full of pep is because I buy nothing but the best gasoline on the market."

Frank: "What is the name of this gasoline you are talking about?" Bill: "Marathon Gasoline, the kind that puts pep in your motor. Believe me, Frank, it's the berries. I don't have any more trouble in starting on cold mornings, ol' Marathon seems to even put pep in my starter, and carbon—say, I don't know what it is to have a carbonized motor."

Frank: "Do you really believe that it gives more power?" Bill: "I know it for a positive fact. The Midway Oil Company will prove this to your entire satisfaction. If they don't, you'll get your money back in a hurry."

Frank: "Doggone it, that's fair enough. I believe I'll try it the next time I fill up with gas."

Bill: "You will find out for yourself that everything of what I have told you is the absolute truth."

YOUR HEALTH

Arthritis Pain Is Relieved by Moist Heat Packs

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

RECENTLY I saw a report showing that the death rate of infants in one of our large cities was less than 60 per thousand born. That is wonderful.

What a contrast there is between the safety and privileges enjoyed by American children to-day and the primitive and dangerous conditions prevailing in Colonial times! The Pilgrim Fathers took to church with them not only their hymn books but also their muskets and side arms. They had to be on guard against the Indians. Every mother dreaded what might happen to her little ones. But because they had been spared their lives and permitted to establish themselves in a place where political and religious freedom prevailed, they were thankful to Almighty God and dedicated themselves anew to the safe completion of the task before them.

When I think about conditions prevailing in Colonial times, I do not confine my thought to the dangers of attack by brutal savages. I think of the ignorance prevalent then regarding the causes of disease. The many deaths which occurred cannot be attributed alone to the hard climate and primitive living to the hard work and jarring human enemies. Diseases now much less fatal because we know how to deal with the producing germs, were prevalent then and tremendously dangerous. We have learned how to protect society against their ravages. Fortunate indeed is the infant who is born now. Mothers are taught how to feed and care for the babies. The chance of his dying in his first five or six months is as great as it was in Pilgrim days.

The expectation of life in America has increased fifteen years in half a century and no doubt the expectation of life is twice as great today as when the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

My heart bleeds for the young mothers of that period. The early graveyards were filled by the untimely deaths of very young women who gave their lives for the babies of that period.

Improvement in living conditions is the result of education. Every family should make health one of its specialties. The better informed the household is in the rules of hygiene, the safer it is. Simple living, plain food, daily exercise, care of the teeth, attention to the disposal of waste, abundant use of water for bathing and drinking, plenty of sleep, a contented mind, in these lies the secret of vigorous health and long life.

Answers to Health Questions

MRS. H. Q.—Would you advise me to have my little girl's adenoids removed at this time of year?

A.—If your daughter's adenoids are diseased it would be wise to consult your physician regarding this matter and be guided by his judgment.

A SUBSCRIBER Q.—What causes a hard lump to form on the lobe of my ear?

A.—This may be due to a cyst. You should have your doctor examine it and determine absolutely.

MRS. A. H. Q.—I have a son afflicted with epilepsy. Can you give me any information on this subject?

THANK YOU. Q.—Do you advise plastic surgery for a misshapen nose? Could you advise me what such an operation might cost?

A.—In some instances plastic surgery has been very successful. It would be impossible to tell you what an operation of this kind would cost, since doctor's fees vary so much. To one of the hospitals and they will advise you along these lines.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicine, hygiene and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it cannot be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will send the answer by a self-addressed, stamped envelope if enclosed. Address ALL INQUIRIES to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Norma Talmadge Stars in "Graustark," Feature Photoplay

The man who built a kingdom lives in Hollywood.

Out of thin air, without a background or aid from history, in nine weeks he envisioned, planned, sketched, created and supervised the building of as complete a kingdom as ever existed.

Castles were built to his order and furnished by his direction. A coat of arms and a national emblem came out of his facile brain to become reality. He fashioned a national flag to wave over the battlements.

Three regiments of soldiers were garbed in uniforms he designed. Customs and conventions of a royal court were planned and worked out by him. A good silver service with the royal crest was made to his order.

Out of nothing, he built a mythical kingdom to reality. His name is William von Brincken, and on the payroll of the Joseph M. Schenck producing organization he is listed as a "technical advisor."

In nine weeks he made the mythical kingdom of Graustark, which existed only in the pages of George Barr McCutcheon's novel, a photographic reality.

And Norma Talmadge, as the lovely Princess Yveline, walks through the royal palace which, nine weeks ago, never existed. For they were built as set pieces for the film version of "Graustark" the Dimitri Proukoff production for Joseph M. Schenck in which the gracious Norma is starred. "Graustark" is the film offering at the American Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Premier Horseman Adds New Record To His Long List

LONDON, O.—William "Doc" McMillen, of London, premier horseman of Ohio during the last season, has a new record to his credit and a new horse in his stable.

McMillen has been entrusted with the care of Red Cross, 2:05 1/2, commonly known as the "Iron Horse." The animal was purchased at a recent Chicago sale by Will Smythe, of Alliance, leading patron of McMillen's training stables and owner of the fast Miss Ellen W and former owner of The Deuce.

Famous Statuary Crumbling Away

Paris.—There is talk of removing Carpeaux's famous group, "La Danse," from the top of the Paris opera house, which it has graced for so many years, and replacing it with a copy, so that the original may be preserved in a museum. The group is crumbling, and in a century or so there may be nothing left of it. The "Danse" is regarded as one of Carpeaux's finest works and as a masterpiece of his period.

Some Parisians oppose the idea of removing the group. "The Opera," they say, "is a public monument and a complete artistic whole. Changes can only harm it. 'La Danse,' too, was specially designed for the place it now occupies. It would be out of place in a museum."

Red Cross won his "Iron Horse" moniker in 1924 when he started 34 times, won 11 races, finished second in the same number of races and in the same number of times. Last year he was in 15 races, winning five times, second place five times and third place twice.

The animal was sired by Colonel Gentry and his dam was Lucy Wilmer by Fred S. He is a Kentucky bred horse and took his record over a half-mile track. His record has stamped him one of the prospective stars in the McMillen stable and is being primed for the mile and half-mile tracks this year.

The Union Christmas Club is still open. Join now.

LAD HELD FOR LOOTING STORE

Confesses to Breaking Into L. B. Kochert Grocery.

Charged with breaking and entering following his alleged confession to Chief of Police John Fultz that he burglarized the L. B. Kochert grocery store, 601 Aten avenue, William Clutter, 16 years old, who lives a mile and a half north of the city on the McQueen's Run road, is locked up in jail here awaiting a hearing before Mayor Wallace L. Fogo.

Clutter was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police John Fultz following an investigation of the burglary, which occurred Thursday night. Questioned by Chief Fultz last night, Clutter is said to have confessed to breaking into the establishment and getting away with cash, grocery and wearing apparel amounting to approximately $17.

According to the story told the police chief, Clutter removed glass from a window in front of the store, unobserved, and made his way into the store.

He rifled the cash register, it is said, of 67 pennies and a dollar bill and carried away two suits of overalls, a coat, a pair of gloves and a quantity of groceries.

In leaving the store he placed the window glass back in position. Clutter is scheduled to get a hearing before Mayor Fogo today.

VESPER SERVICE AT U. P. CHURCH

The second vesper service in the special afternoon series at the First United Presbyterian church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4:45 o'clock.

Interest was shown in last Sunday's meeting, the first of the series, and an even larger attendance is expected tomorrow. The church will be illuminated for the services in a way to add to the suggestiveness of the hour.

Rev. H. W. Ustick, pastor, will speak on "What God Wants With Me." The sermon will be augmented by Hutchinson's "One Increasing Purpose," a stirring religious story illustrating a great spiritual fact in life.

An extensive musical program has been arranged, including organ numbers by Walter Henstock; choir numbers, including, "Praise the Lord of Heaven," by Ashford, under the direction of Mrs. Will L. Baker; a soprano solo, "Thy Will Be Done," by Miss Ethel Peterson, who took part in the Christmas cantata, "Promise and Fulfillment," by Spohr.

The vesper service is one hour in duration. Rev. Ustick extends an invitation to the public.

BREAKS ARM IN SLED ACCIDENT

Edward Kessel, 12 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Kessel, of Toronto, former residents of this city, was taken to the East Liverpool City hospital yesterday following injuries sustained in a coasting accident at Toronto.

The youngster, it is said, sustained a compound fracture of his right arm when, while coasting, his sled ran into an obstruction on the track.

INJUNCTION CASE IS DISMISSED

Injunction proceedings filed in common pleas court October 31, 1925, by James B. Orr and James O. Orr, of Wellsville, against the city in protest of Wells avenue-Lisbon street assessment rates, have been dismissed, the case having been settled out of court. The journal entry has been approved by Mayor W. L. Fogo and City Solicitor Luccock and the action has been dismissed from the records at the cost of the defendant.

HIGHS DROP DOUBLE BILL

Boys Lose Thriller to Lisbon, Five, 33-31.

Coming within an ace of furnishing the biggest dose upset of the season until the present stage, Wellsville high school's five last night held Lisbon passers to a 33 to 31 count on the local floor in one of the most thrilling court engagements here in recent seasons.

A see-saw affair from start to finish, with the county seaters fighting tooth and nail to stay in the lead, the contest developed a brand of basketball that flashed with brilliant offensive and defensive tactics and kept the huge crowd of fans on the edge of their seats until the final foot of the whistle and the last field goal that slipped through the net in the nick of time for the Lisbonites to win.

Four stiff practice sessions during the week put the Orange and Black outfit on edge for a great struggle and they grabbed off plenty of glory, even in defeat.

Lisbon, prior to last night's contest, had played two county games, losing one and winning one. The quality of basketball the county seat aggregation is capable of did not drop off any here last night against the locals.

The final seconds of the game provided the big thrills with the two teams racing down to the wire, neck and neck. The count was 31-31 when the Blue and White slipped over the winning counters.

The girls' clash, staged as a preliminary, ran the main attraction a close race for honors. Lisbon lassies outscored the locals to win by a count of 30 to 25.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF ENGAGEMENT MADE

The Monday Evening Bridge club was delightfully entertained last evening at a 6 o'clock dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Russell at their home in Riverside avenue.

Announcement was made at the dinner of the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn, to Jay Monson Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Russell, of Cleveland Heights.

The dining room was decorated in yellow and white. Upon untying yellow and white bags before their plates, guests "let the cat out of the bag," finding attached cards bearing the names of the engaged couple.

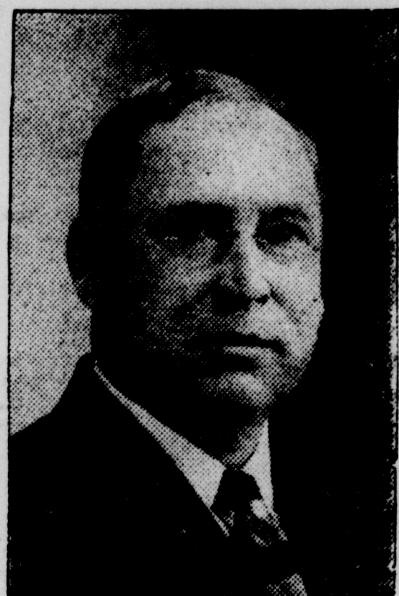

After dinner three tables of bridge were in play. Prizes were won by Miss Agnes Lytle, Mrs. Clarence Williamson and Miss Isabelle Runyon.

The out of town guests included Misses Martha Parrish, of Mt. Vernon; Katherine Higgins, Columbus; Velma Harper, of Corapolis, Pa.; Alma Hlavac, of Crafton, Pa.; and Agnes Lytle, of Beaver Falls, Pa.

The wedding will be an event of the early spring.

HOLDS REVIVAL MEETINGS HERE

East Palestine Minister at Christian Church.

Evangelist E. P. Murch.

Revival services are under way in the First Christian church, under direction of Evangelist E. P. Murch, of East Palestine. Prior to taking charge of the First Christian church, at East Palestine, Rev. Murch was field secretary of the Ohio Christian Missionary society for eight years.

He is a fluent speaker and fills his sermons with power and force. His messages are delivered in series and many of them are illustrated by charts. Services are held each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The revivals will continue until Jan. 31.

COLLINS GIVES ADDRESS HERE

Peter W. Collins, internationally known lecturer, last night discussed "What America Needs" before a large audience in the Grand theatre, Main street, under auspices of the Wellsville council, Knights of Columbus.

He discussed economic, financial and labor conditions in the United States, urging a close bond of relationship between capital and labor, to eliminate costly production tie-ups caused by lockouts and strikes, by the settlement and adjustment of wages and other differences by arbitration and conferences, instead.

He delivered a masterful address, explaining a number of the questions that have been put to him during his many experiences on the lecture platform.

DOG TAG LIMIT NEXT WEDNESDAY

J. L. McDevitt, of Fourth and Broadway, today announced dog tags can be obtained from him at his residence.

The time limit is Wednesday, Jan. 20. After that, McDevitt pointed out, there will be a penalty attached to the cost of the licenses. McDevitt announced he had been authorized by the county to accept orders for tags.

TODAY
Granddaughter's Visit.
More Pay for Good Men.
Blaming Automobiles.
John Hertz—His Sign.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of the Review-Tribune.)
Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

Rich Americans send their dollars off to Europe with their daughters. Little knowing how those dollars or daughters will come back.

Sometimes dollars stay and daughters come back with a divorce and experience. Sometimes daughters and dollars stay, and the next generation returns to surprise the man that made the dollars.

Old Levi Letter, of Chicago, whose money established the fortune of Lord Curzon in England, would be surprised to meet his granddaughter, Lady Cynthia Mosley. Behold, she comes to the United States for a visit, speaking an English of which old Letter would understand not one word; and she is a socialist, spending the Letter money to get into parliament on the Labor ticket.

Can't you imagine Levi Letter turning in his grave, like an electric fan?

The railroad trainmen, hundreds of thousands of faithful workers, ask for better pay, and ought to get it.

Railroads, protected by government, enjoy prosperity. Steadily increasing, they should divide prosperity with the men that do the work through the nights in cold and rain, when those that collect dividends are asleep.

All Americans, especially business men and money makers, should demand that good workers get their fair share of national prosperity.

The rich man can get only his share of what the average man has to spend.

Go home, figures show that from 1920 to 1924 "automobiles killed 60,876 men, women and children."

And in 1924 the "death roll" numbered 15,528.

Calculated to give the false and damaging impression that the automobile in itself is a dangerous, deadly demon, these figures are not true to fact.

Of the 60-odd thousand killed in five years some were the victims of stupid, reckless or drunken drivers, some of incompetents.

The greater number killed were victims of their own carelessness, commonly described as "jay-walking."

When a man on the railroad track is killed, nobody blames the locomotive or suggests suppressing railroads.

The signs read "Stop, Look and Listen," and "Keep Off the Tracks."

City streets and country highways are now in fact railroad tracks. Public convenience, happiness and comfort demand all possible encouragement of the automobile industry. Not a few, but tens of millions now ride in automobiles every day.

It is therefore a crime to misrepresent the situation, discourage the automobile industry, blaming the individual careful driver for the carelessness and stupidity of "jay-walkers." The automobile industry is the greatest blessing of the human race.

John Hertz, who bosses Yellow taxicabs in Chicago, and taxis and omnibuses all over the world, is determined

A FREE BAKING BOOKLET

Some kind of bread is served on the average American table three times a day. The quality of that bread is an important matter. The food value depends on the materials which go into it, whether it is made at home or in the bakery. The Baking Booklet has been planned primarily as a guide in home baking, but through its discussions of materials it offers help also in the choice of commercial baked products.

DRY CHIEFTAIN WILL ATTEND PARLEY HERE

Prohibition Commissioner McDonald to Visit City Tuesday.

MASS MEETING

Anti-Saloon Forces of District Will Reorganize.

State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald, Columbus, and V. A. Schreiber, Canton, district superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league and former mayor of East Liverpool, will visit here next Tuesday evening, when district dry forces will be reorganized.

A mass meeting will be held in the First United Presbyterian church, Sixth and Jefferson streets, at 7:30 o'clock. All persons "interested in good government" are invited to attend. Officers will be elected.

Mr. Schreiber was a resident here until he retired from the mayor's office about 10 years ago. For many years he was the Anti-Saloon league superintendent in the Toledo district, but about a year ago was transferred to the Canton office.

Mr. McDonald is a former chautauqua speaker and also was the supreme lecturer for the Modern Woodmen of America for several years.

The program, which will be interspersed with musical numbers, was discussed at a dinner meeting of a representative gathering in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. last evening.

Similar district reorganization meetings, preliminary to the forming of a county organization, will be held in Wellsville, Salem, Sallineville, Leetonia, Lisbon, East Palestine and Columbiana.

The mass meeting next Tuesday will also celebrate the sixth anniversary of national prohibition, which became effective on January 16, 1920, just six years ago today.

W. G. McKee Funeral At 3:30 p. m. Sunday In Sturgis Home

Funeral services for W. G. McKee, 83, Civil war veteran, former resident of Fredericktown, who died in the home of his son, John McKee, in Shelby, will be held at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Sturgis funeral home, Fifth street. Rev. Frank G. Fowler, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will be in charge. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

C. OF C. BOARD MEETING CALLED

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce will meet next Tuesday or Wednesday evening to elect officers for the coming year.

New members of the board, who were chosen for a term of three years, include W. H. Vodrey, Joseph Betz, T. V. Milligan, Frank Swaney, Charles Henshaw, John Manor and C. V. Beatty.

EVANGELIST SAYS SCORES OF PEOPLE HERE LIVE FOR SHOW AND DRESS

"Put Powder Puffs, Lip Sticks and Curling Irons on Their Coffins When They Die," Suggests Rev. Lincicome.

Warning that death is no respecter of person, Evangelist Norman Lincicome, of Gary, Ind., in a sermon at the Oakland Free Methodist church last night, charged "there are carloads of people in East Liverpool who are living for mere show and dress."

"They are a thousand times more worried about their freckles than they are about their sins," he said. "They are more concerned about their standing before society than they are about their standing before God. They are more interested in the latest fad than the place of redemption."

"When these people die they will not need any funeral sermon preached; all you will need to do is to get their powder puffs, lip sticks, curling irons, finger rings, brass bands, strings of pearls, low-necked dresses and sleeve-

Ohio Assembly's Action Will Permit Financial Relief to Meet Shortage in Funds on Dec. 31, Last.

SOLVES BOARD MEMBERS' PROBLEM

Representative Explains Authorities, Upon Petition of 60 Per Cent of Electors May Issue Certificates.

The financial embarrassment of the East Liverpool district schools, which are facing a deficit of approximately $30,000 by reason of shrinkage in tax collections will be relieved if Gov. A. V. Donahey approves or permits the Baxter bill, enacted by the state legislature, to become a law, State Representative Ralph W. Emmons, of East Rochester, said today.

Emmons returned home this morning from Columbus, where as a member of the house he attended the special one-day session of the assembly yesterday.

Way Out of Dilemma.

"The Baxter bill, if permitted to become a law, will solve the financial problem of the East Liverpool schools," he said. "The measure permits the board of education to adopt a resolution, authorizing certification of indebtedness to meet a deficit of Dec. 31, last. As to a deficit during the present year, this, too, may be liquidated if 60 per cent of the electors petition the board to follow the course outlined by the bill."

Emmons said a letter from Clerk Emmett J. Gaston of the East Liverpool board, in which he set forth the financial dilemma of the schools, was made a part of the records at the meeting of the taxation committee of the legislature which recommended enactment of the Baxter measure.

What Bill Provides.

The Baxter bill provides that the accounting officer of each taxing district shall, immediately upon the passage of this act, or not later than April 1, next, certify to the state auditor:

1.—The balance, or deficiency, outstanding to the credit, or debit, of the several funds of the taxing district, except sinking fund, as of December 31, last.

2.—A detailed statement of the outstanding indebtedness of the funds of the district stating whether represented by certificates of indebtedness, ac-

Prohibition Staff Slash Planned on Saloonless Birthday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—A new slash in the federal prohibition staff at Washington within a few days will reduce the force here to 250 and virtually complete the drys' organization started nine months ago by Gen. L. C. Andrews.

This was announced today, the anniversary of the date when prohibition became effective in the United States.

In the last nine months over 400 subordinate officials, legal and technical experts had clerks have been dropped from prohibition headquarters which once had a staff of nearly 1,000.

Mrs. B. C. Simms Dies in Home

Funeral Services Will be Held Tuesday.

Mrs. B. C. Simms, 77, lifelong resident of East Liverpool, died today in her home, 406 Broadway.

Mrs. Simms was born March 6, 1849, a daughter of Benjamin and Susan Harker, pioneer residents here, and spent her entire life in this city. She was married 52 years ago to B. O. Simms, who died November 7, 1922. She was a member of the First Methodist church since girlhood and greatly interested in charitable work.

She is survived by one son and two daughters: John H. Simms, Detroit, Mich.; Miss Mayne Simms and Mrs. H. C. Ostermann, at home; one brother, Charles Harker, Niles, and one sister, Mrs. Maude Dawson, Ohioville.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Frank G. Fowler, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, assisted by Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, will be in charge. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Friends may view the body Monday night from 7 to 10 o'clock.

Dancing, Danceland, tonight, 25 and 50c.

Rev. L. C. Difford Is Critically Ill; Bishop Visits Him

Rt. Rev. Warren Lincoln Rogers, Cleveland, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Ohio, was called here today by the critical illness of Rev. Lionel C. Difford, pastor of the St. Stephen's Episcopal church. He will return home this afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Difford's illness is due to a complaint of long standing.

Services at the St. Stephen's church tomorrow will be in charge of Rev. Mr. Ward, of Akron.

John W. Moore, clerk of the board of deputy state supervisors of election and former newspaper publisher, will assume the office of service-safety director of the city of East Liverpool late this afternoon, succeeding Service Director A. G. Ellis and Safety Director S. E. Anderson.

Moore is the first man to hold the two directorships, combined by the ordinance approved by council last year. He should have assumed office last Monday, January 11, but at his request his predecessors were permitted to serve the first half of the month.

The new director will maintain his office in the city water works office, Fourth street, and also will have a desk space at the city hall. He has made no announcement concerning his policy.

DANCE IS HELD

Four Hundred Lodge-men and Ladies are Guests.

Establishing a precedent by the utilization in turn of its dining hall, lodge auditorium and ballroom on the first, third and second floors, respectively, 400 East Liverpool Masons, their wives and other members of their families, with an inviting banquet, inspiring program of song and dancing, celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of the building's occupancy at the Broadway-Masonic Temple last evening.

In attendance were former residents now living in Lisbon, Sallineville, Wellsville and other nearby points.

Marring to a considerable degree the otherwise most successful departure of all the various details of the affair was the sudden passing away earlier in the day of Dr. William H. Clark, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church; long one of the body's outstanding adherents who was to have made the invocation preceding the dinner.

Cognizance of his departure was taken by Joseph T. Croxall preliminary to the musical program in the lodge room. "We deeply regret the loss that has come to us in the death of Dr. William H. Clark," he said.

"We are impressed by the fact that this loss is equally felt by the people of the community generally as well as by us who knew him in intimate fraternal relation. In every walk of life since the knowledge of the sad event has reached them people have remarked a sense of the universal loss that the city has sustained in his sudden end."

Triplicate Affair.

12 Escape Death As Bus Hangs on Excavation Edge

CINCINNATI, Jan. 16.—A dozen persons are recovering from injuries and grateful today that they are still in the land of the living. They were injured last night when a double deck bus of the Norwood Bus company jumped the curb on the east side of Montgomery road opposite Weyer avenue in Norwood, plowed through a brick pile and hung suspended on the edge of an excavation for the cellar of a house under construction. The bus was crowded with persons on their way home from work. Chauffeur William Hildreth told the police that the steering wheel locked and, although he applied the brakes, the momentum of the heavy vehicle carried it over the sidewalk to the brink of disaster.

Juvenile Bible Study

One question for each day is provided. The parent will find it interesting and helpful to have the child take up the question each day and aid it in finding the answer in the Scriptures, thus developing a knowledge of the Bible and where to find it in the things decided. Send or bring the little folks to the class Sunday at 1:45 p. m. The "Ceramic Cafeteria Auditorium," 121 West Fifth Street. Have them bring their Bibles. The questions for this week are:

177. Did Adam and Eve Fall in their trial for life?
Answer: Yes. Genesis 3:6.
178. Did God blame Eve for Adam's sin?
Answer: See 1 Timothy 2:14; Romans 5:12, 16, 18.
179. How did God punish Adam?
Answer: See Genesis 2:17; 3:19, 20; Romans 6:23; 5:12, 16, 18; 1 Corinthians 15:22.
180. Are the dead conscious?
Answer: See Ecclesiastes 9:5, 10; 3:19, 20; Psalm 146:4; 6:5; 1 Corinthians 15:18; 2 Peter 2:12.
181. Will the dead ever live again?
Answer: See John 5:28, 29; 1 Corinthians 15:12, 22, 23; Acts 17:31; 24:15; Revelation 20:12, 13.
182. Why will all of the dead be raised?
Answer: See 1 Timothy 2:5, 6; Hosea 13:14; Acts 24:14, 15; Luke 9:11; 1 Corinthians 15:13-18.
183. Did Adam alone suffer the death penalty?
Answer: See Romans 5:12, 18; Ezekiel 18:2; 1 Corinthians 15:22; Ecclesiastes 3:20; Romans 3:10, 23.

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GIRL WHO MARRIED FOR MONEY

FIFTY.

Clothes had come to play a dominating part in Laurel Harwood's existence. Her visits to the modiste shops, her hours with Vogue and Harper's Bazar and the other fashion magazines, were a definite part of her life. She bought new gowns and finery, created new combinations, new effects; drank in the appreciation that Noble's eyes reflected; and felt the exultation of glorifying and worshipping her body. Clothes were her solace; her emotional outlet; her mental retreat; her final and decisive means of expression. She was her own toy as well as Noble's.

Though she might have had a sextette of maids, she was reluctant to have even one about her. She did not allow Ella to dress her, but attended to all of the details herself; relegating the maid to a sort of wardrobe keeper. Her manicuring, her hair-dressing, her chiropractic she did herself. When her bobbed hair needed trimming, she went to the barber's unwillingly, wishing that she might do it herself.

She spent hours in her bath, and it was as much of a ritual with her as with the old Romans. She felt kindly inclined toward the first Mrs. Harwood because of the bathroom her predecessor had created. It was nearly as large as her dressing-room, and could have accommodated a fireplace. The walls were covered with a French paper patterned with many colored flowers and little mauve temples. The floor was carpeted. Nothing could be more eloquent of modern plumbing, the United States' greatest contribution to civilization, than this fact; a carpet may be safely used in a bathroom! The tub was sunk in the floor in a mirrored alcove. The washstand was a lacquer cabinet, with marble top and silver dolphins for faucets, and behind the doors below were shelves for toilet articles and linens. Around the walls were strong lights screened by heavy fringes of crystal beads. Mrs. Mary Farr Harwood, in her egotism, had created a bathroom for a goddess—and for a successor in Noble's affections.

Laurel, fresh from her late afternoon hour in the bath, was going over the gowns in her wardrobe with a selective eye, when Ella announced Berenice. Laurel, annoyed by her sister's unexpected call, and particularly at this reserved time, went into the sitting room to give her a cool kiss. "Please pardon me, dear, until I find a gown to wear."

Berenice followed her to the door of the dressing-room. "How do you find YOUR TROUSSEAU among all these?" she said suggestively.

Laurel, angered by the intrusion as much as the remark, glared at her sister's reflection in the mirror, but did not reply. She deliberately took more time than she needed to choose the dress she wanted to wear to dinner. It was a gown of Spanish inspiration in white chiffon velvet with rich embroidery all over the front. Deep silk fringe, a subtle mode of drapery reminiscent of a Spanish shawl, formed a particularly graceful line. She was as particular about the lingerie she chose to go with it. It was satin and very lacy and of pale green shade.

When she brought them out, Berenice remarked, "You don't look very well in white. It makes you so colorless."

"That is YOUR opinion, Berenice," Her sister shrugged. "You always did lack taste about attire." She looked deprecatingly through the door at the racks of gowns and frocks.

"Did you make this unexpected and UNANNOUNCED visit to do me this great favor?"

Berenice, suddenly realizing that she had begun her mission on the wrong track, grew effusive. "Oh, I was just raving you, old thing. You know very well you look perfectly splendid in white."

Laurel, doubting, sat down and waited. She couldn't bring herself to dress before Berenice. "How is mother?"

"All right. She's helping Mrs. Winston with the bridge club this afternoon."

"Oh, Mrs. Winston has the club today, has she," Laurel responded, absently, for want of something else to say. What did Berenice want? There was an awkward silence.

"Oh, sis, I have a great plan! A couturiere! I can get the old Ragland home, and leave all the present furnishings in it, and get a lot of antiques, and make it THE shop for women. Give Central City something like that, and they'll fight to get in. No gowns or anything in sight. Dresses brought out for each customer—only there wouldn't be any customers; we'd call them patrons and put on lots of 'dog.' Even though they'd have to pay twice as much as elsewhere, women would flock in, and they'd come here from all the surrounding cities. We'd make it very exclusive, except that anybody with any money to spend could get in."

"We?" Laurel was amused by her sister's explanation and enthusiasm. "Yes, mother and me."

"Do you think Central City is large enough to support an exclusive shop on so large a scale? It's an awfully large house and it would take lots of run it. And it would take a lot of money to start it. I should think that mother would be shaky about investing so much in such an uncertain enterprise."

"But it isn't uncertain, and besides, maybe Noble would lend—"

Laurel stared. So that was it! "Why," she exclaimed, "I wouldn't allow you to think of doing such a thing."

Berenice, taken back by the vehemence of her sister's protest, asked, "Why not?"

"Why, what is the matter with you! You know we can't ask things like that of Noble!"

To all of this Ella had been a not unwilling listener. Laurel, suddenly remembering her, gave the maid a look that sent her out.

"I won't have you asking favors of Noble," she continued. "It isn't that

Death of Rev. William H. Clark

Few, if any, men have won as warm a place in the hearts of the people of their adopted community as the late Rev. William H. Clark, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, whose death yesterday from a stroke of paralysis proved a shock to the East Liverpool district.

From the day he assumed the pastorate of the Thompson boulevard church, nearly 12 years ago, he endeared himself not only to the members of his congregation, but also to those of other religious denominations who admired his strong character and the simplicity of his life.

He practiced as well as preached the commandment, Love thy neighbor as thyself, and his greatest joy came from his unselfishness and a desire to spread happiness in the community in which he was recognized as a great force for good and was known to most of his fellow citizens.

He exemplified Christian love, as he believed in putting the best construction on the words and actions of others. And this virtue marked his keen interest in civic and fraternal activities. Of him it can be said, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

A Southern National Park

The eastern part of the United States has only one real national park, the Lafayette park in Maine. There are a number of military parks such as the battlefields of Vicksburg, Gettysburg, Chickamauga, Chattanooga, Shiloh and a few others.

Now there is a movement started to establish a national park in western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee, in the region of the Great Smoky mountains. It is claimed that this is one of the finest sites for a southern national park because of the height of the mountains, the depth of the valleys and the beauty and variety of the flowers, trees and shrubs all through the section.

One plan proposes the purchase of the site for presentation to the federal government. Citizens of the region are eagerly advocating this. They are proud of the scenic attraction of the place, and they know that the establishment of a national park there will bring a lucrative tide of tourists.

Citizens elsewhere, too, ought to do anything possible to encourage the proposal. We can use more national parks and there is still plenty of splendid scenery available for such use. Every section of the country should be represented with its share of national parks and the people of every section ought to plan at some time in their lives to visit all the others. These fine public playgrounds are ideal recreation places.

The Tobacco Face

According to Joseph Byrns, who ran the national beauty show owners' convention, women if they continue to smoke will come to look like men—which would be a dreadful thing.

Now, don't say that's just what the women are trying to do. Their mannish bobs and more or less masculine clothes are superficial. They always flatter themselves that their femininity shows through the mask. But listen, ladies:

"Features of women who smoke," says this facial expert, "grow sharper as the nicotine habit grows upon them. The skin becomes taut and hollow. The lips lose their rosy color. The corners of the mouth show wrinkles. The lower lip shows a tendency to project beyond the upper lip."

The beauty shop people do what they can to remedy these ravages, with plenty of assistance from the once fair smokers themselves, but somehow it doesn't quite make up for the loss.

So mildy is in as serious a dilemma as was Kipling's nicotine-soaked hero. He had to choose between his girl and his cigar. The girl now has to choose between her fag and her looks. Will she decide that a face is only a face, but a cigaret is a smoke?

Washington Jaywalks

Jaywalking is allowed in Washington. That, you may say, is about what might be expected from the provincialism of that pretended center of sophistication. But there's another point to it.

The freedom to jaywalk is established by judicial decision. A local traffic regulation prohibited crossing the streets anywhere but at cross-walks, or in disregard of traffic signs. The police arrested hundreds of persons for ignoring the ordinance. But a municipal court judge knew better. He set all the offenders free, on the ground that the municipal government was "authorized to regulate only vehicular traffic, and not pedestrians."

Entirely ignoring, by the way, the fact that it's impossible to regulate wheel traffic without regulating foot traffic, because each hinders the other unless they keep their places and take their turns. Also assuming that a citizen has more rights when he's walking in front of a driver than when he's driving in front of a walker.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Restoring Fort McHenry.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 16.—In compliance with an Act of Congress March 3, 1925, authorizing the restoration of Fort McHenry to its approximate condition in 1812, the quartermaster general has begun work on the project.

The act authorized the sale of the temporary and other buildings used during the World war. The proceeds of this sale, not to exceed the sum of $50,000, are to be used in the work of restoring this old fort to its former condition and to making it a national monument.

Citizens of Baltimore, who had been most active in boosting this idea, employed an engineer to make an estimate of what price the buildings might bring. He thought that $50,000 might be expected that was also estimated as the cost of the necessary work. The office of the quartermaster general says, however, that thinks did not work out in this way. The buildings brought something over $28,000. This, therefore, is the amount available but not appropriated.

The office of the quartermaster general is taking a deep interest in this project, and there is more work required than might appear at first glance. In order that the fort may be restored as near its 1812 condition as possible it is necessary to do a great amount of research work. There are evidences that many changes have been made in the old star fort owing to changed requirements. Here a door has been sealed and there a gallery or balcony has been removed. No doubt there are many changes not so apparent without study. A close study will be made of all available records and histories of the fort. Any pictures of Fort McHenry at that time will be closely scrutinized.

About 80 buildings have now been sold and work has been started on their demolition. It is probable that this will take several months so that work of parking the grounds can not be commenced until some time in April. No definite plan for the parking of the grounds has yet been formulated.

A Long and Honorable History.
Fort McHenry has had a long and honorable history. Old land records indicate that in 1662 Charles Gorseuch of the Society of Friends took up and patented 50 acres of land on Whetstone Point. Part of this tract is the site of Fort McHenry. On May 17, 1800, this ground was deeded to the state of Maryland by one William Goodwin. In August of the same year it was conveyed to the United States for $5,000.

The first purchase of any part of this land by the federal government appears to have been on July 20, 1795, under authority of Act of Congress of March 20, 1794. Additional ground was purchased in 1798, 1800, 1836 and 1837. This tract now comprises about 45 acres.

Early in the Revolutionary war the provincial convention of Baltimore ordered the construction of defensive works at Baltimore and the fortification of the present site of Fort McHenry was begun. By spring of 1776 there was a force of 250 negroes employed in providing timber, logs, etc., for the erection of a boom between Whetstone Point and the Lazaretto. Batteries were built and guns mounted.

When on March 5, 1776, the British sloop of war Otter with several tenders appeared in Chesapeake Bay there was great consternation at Baltimore and the council of safety took steps to hasten the completion of defenses at Whetstone Point. An additional chain was stretched across the narrow neck of the harbor, supported by 21 schooners. Upon the withdrawal of the Otter this was removed, and upon the return of peace the entire works were abandoned.

Early in the administration of President Washington serious complications arose between the United States and Great Britain because of complaints made of depredations upon British commerce by American privateers carrying French flags. This irritation grew out of the vague provisions of the treaty of 1783 in relation to cession of lands and military posts in the northwest. For a while war appeared imminent, although eventually these and other differences were settled by diplomacies.

When it seemed that the United States might again become involved in a war with Great Britain, Washington recommended that serious preparations be made for offense and defense. Accordingly the citizens of Baltimore commenced at their own expense the erection of a star fort on Whetstone Point. And this was the beginning of Fort McHenry as it now stands.

Named for War Secretary.
Under Act of Congress, March 20, 1794, this old star fort passed to the general or federal government, the Maryland legislature having already given its consent. It was named for James McHenry, who was one of George Washington's private secretaries during the Revolutionary war, and who afterwards became secretary of war. It was at this time that the fort became a permanent military post. The fortification works were not completed until 1805, and the formal cession of this property from the state to the federal government did not take place until 1816.

Of course the high light in the history of Fort McHenry was its successful withstanding of the British bombardment in 1814. This story is familiar to every school child, however, because it was this that inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star Spangled Banner" which immediately sprang into a popularity which has continued through the years. This victory also won for Baltimore the distinction of being the only great seaport on the Atlantic coast which has never been occupied by an enemy.

During the Civil war Fort McHenry was again fortified. On the night of May 13, 1861, an elevation called Federal Hill was occupied by troops under the command of Major General Butler, and the following month a strong fort was erected there. A number of other works were also constructed but these were all abandoned at the close of the war.

In April, 1861, an attempt was made by Confederate sympathizers to gain possession of Fort McHenry but they were repulsed by a garrison of 100 recruits commanded by Captain Robinson.

During the World War General Hospital No. 2 was located at Fort McHenry and plastic facial surgery and reconstruction work was done there. This hospital had a capacity of about 3,000 beds. After the war it was turned over to the Veterans' Bureau and specialized in the care and rehabilitation of those who had lost their sight in the great war.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Society shop-keeping has passed the faddist stage and is stern realism for many shops that must compete with them for bon ton trade. A few of the society shops have lasted but a short while, but in the main they have endured.

Women whose names have brightened the social world seem to long for the business whirl when the social razzle dazzle falls. The men have a flair for opening haberdashery shops and the women for specialty shops, featuring lingerie, toilet articles and millinery.

They usually locate in the fashionable Fifties or the ground floors of exclusive Park Avenue apartment buildings. They at first make their appeal to whatever personal following they may have, knowing a few social greats will bring tumbling sheep.

In one block on Madison Avenue a hat shop, antique shop and flower store are operated by women of the Four Hundred. None of them is suffering from shrunken income. They have merely found life a shade dull and sought to kill off ennui in trade.

While they are not active in the management they drop around daily to see if all is well. A competing shopkeeper to one sends out a circular which contains this rather futile wall: "I founded my business to aid building a home for my family and to educate two sons and a daughter. I haven't the background of wealth and family name. I am competing with people to whom increased trade or gain of money means nothing. While they chase a fad, I struggle to survive."

A perusal of the telephone book reveals about 30 social greats who are now lending their names to trade and there are hundreds who do not loan their names to enterprises they sponsor. It seems to me a healthy sign. For many years soap box evangelists have been warning about the rich and social idle. Well, they have gone to work.

Superstition is amazingly tenacious at times. There is a man at one of the New York hospitals who has roamed the seven seas for twenty years. He has visited every port and now suffers from a lung trouble. He believes firmly he is the victim of an East African curse. He offended a tribe of natives there two years ago and the leader pronounced upon him the ancient Masia malediction: "May you never spit white again!" A year after a cold ended in pneumonia and weak lungs. He traces it all to the native's curse.

In the sweatshops of the East Side, tuberculosis is called "spitting rubies." Workers are usually warned of their fate by a sudden mouthful of blood. Reform has worked much change for better among sweatshops in the way of light and clean air, but there are still dank holes where pasty faced men and women bend over whirling machines all day long.

In a little window of a shop on Allen street, a dried up man with eyes like black beads rolls cigarets. For many years I have seen him at various times—by sunlight and the flickering of a gas jet. He seems haggard and very old and now and then peers out cynically at passersby as though to say: "I am still alive." His skin is leathery and his sunken cheeks give him the appearance of some beaked vulture.

The Brevoort now has a brace of American elevators and rooms with private baths, thus modernizing the last of the hotels with quaint old-world customs. Monsieur le proprietaire still greets guests with bows in the lobby and there is a rack gay with French fuelletons, but the Brevoort now takes its competitive place with modern hotels. The Lafayette tries to retain its French atmosphere and does in a fashion. It was the first French restaurant in town, opening some 40 years ago, around the corner from the Brevoort.

TAX COMMISSION CALLED TO MEET

Governor Gore has called a meeting of the special commission to study the tax situation in West Virginia for next Monday at Charleston.

Telegrams calling the meeting were sent out by the governor to members of the commission yesterday.

Members of the commission are D. A. Burt, Republican, Wheeling, chairman; J. H. Long, Democrat, Huntington; J. M. Crawford, Republican, Parkersburg; James E. Jones, Republican, Welch; E. H. Arnold, Democrat, Elkins; H. P. Henshaw, Democrat, Berkeley, county; Virgil L. Highland, Republican, Clarksburg.

The commission was appointed by Governor Gore December 12 to make a study of taxes in West Virginia and to report in time for the next session of the legislature. The commission was authorized by resolutions passed by the extraordinary sessions of the legislature on June 6, 1925.

COAL OUTPUT SETS NEW HIGH RECORD

Coal output of West Virginia has rapidly increased since the advent of the anthracite strike in the Pennsylvania coal fields. Large shipment of bituminous coal is now being made to eastern cities which have in the past always depended on the hard coal supply.

Number of large operators are of the opinion that after the strike is settled there will still be a market for soft coal in the eastern section of the country.

Return from Farm Meet.
Agriculturists from this county who attended the farmers' week at Morgantown returned home last night. The affair was the most successful of its kind ever held under the same auspices and was largely attended each session.

Many To Attend Dance.
Large crowd is expected to attend the Potters' dance which will be held next Wednesday night in the Odd Fellows' hall, Fifth street. Sayre's orchestra will furnish the music.

NEW CHRYSLER CAR ON MARKET

Imperial "80" Exhibited by Simms Motor Company.

The eagerly-awaited car whose coming has been forecast in interviews in America and Europe the past few months with Walter P. Chrysler—the new Chrysler Imperial "80"—is now for the first time exhibited to the public at the New York Automobile show.

Heading the Chrysler lineup of cars, the others being the Chrysler "70" and the Chrysler "58," it is the center of attraction to persons interested in motor cars, whose knowledge and importance attaching to successive Chrysler announcements has led them justly to expect something altogether phenomenal in a car heralded as constructed to the specification "as fine as money can build."

In offering this new line, Mr. Chrysler has been actuated by a desire to meet the demands of those who wanted Chrysler performance in a car of larger measure. The new Imperial "80" is a development of the Chrysler "70" with refinements and improvements arising out of long continued experiment and research with design and materials of the highest type by the engineering department. The new Imperial "80" heads the line exhibited by the Simms Motor company of East Liverpool.

More than $500,000,000 is saved annually by American manufacturers with an outlay of $35,000,000 for research work.

Thirty per cent of the mouth organs exported by Germany are sent to the United States.

Dairymen Attend Meeting.
Hancock county dairymen attended the meeting of the producers of the Panhandle district held Thursday at Wheeling. Producers were present from this and surrounding counties with a number from the Pittsburgh district.

Services Here Sunday.
Services will be held at the usual hours tomorrow in the various churches of the city. Pastors will occupy their pulpits at the morning and evening services.

PROBE MINE DISASTER IN WHICH 19 DIED

Three Separate Agencies
Investigate at Farmington, W. Va.

21 MEN RESCUED

Company Acts as Coroner and State Begin Inquiries.

FARMINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 16.—The disaster at mine No. 8, of the Jamison Coal & Coke company, which exacted a toll of 19 lives and entombed 21 other miners for 20 hours, will be investigated by three separate agencies, it was announced today.

Coroner L. C. Fitzhugh, with a jury already sworn in, started the first investigation this morning. Until the mine has been cleared of all poisonous gas, he will confine his probe to questioning survivors and officials of the coal company.

Company officials announced their own investigation of the cause of the disaster would be started immediately. R. M. Lambie, chief of the state department of mines, expects to begin his inquiry early next week. Meanwhile, he will cooperate with the coroner in gathering statements of survivors.

POTTERS WILL ATTEND DINNER

Western Association
Banquet in Pittsburgh on Tuesday.

A large delegation of East Liverpool district pottery manufacturers and co-workers will attend the anniversary banquet of the Western Glass and Pottery association, which will be held in the Kaufman auditorium, Pittsburgh, at 8:45 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Local guests, who may make reservations by calling Locke Vodyre, telephone No. 885, or at the banquet hall, will leave here on the 4:54 p. m. train. Entrance to the banquet hall, which is on the eleventh floor of the Kaufman building, is on Fifth avenue, in the Pennsylvania city.

Two orchestras will furnish music, while a cabaret show and dancing will be other features of the program which will follow the dinner.

counts payable or otherwise, with the dates of maturity.

3.—All balances and accounts receivable on December 31, 1925, applicable to the net deficiency and levy a tax therefor. The proceeds from this levy shall be applied to making up the deficiencies.

Other Provisions.

The taxing authorities of the district may include in their budgets for the five years ending with 1931 a sum equal to the net deficiency and levy a tax therefor. The proceeds from this levy shall be applied to making up the deficiencies.

Or, these taxing officials may pass a resolution holding that in the issuance of notes maturing not later than December 31, 1931, funding the net deficiency is necessary.

The bill, also provides that in case the amount required for sinking fund purposes is more than four mills, all above four mills shall be placed outside of all limitations.

This latter provision, it was stated, is designed especially to relieve the situation at Lima occasioned by the issuance of bonds for sewer construction.

Governor's Action Uncertain.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16.—Uncertainty existed today relative to the attitude Governor Donahue will take toward the Baxter emergency act which was passed by overwhelming majorities at a brief session of the Ohio legislature here Friday. The bill is designed to afford immediate relief to financially distressed municipalities, counties, school districts and other local taxing units.

The measure is not expected to reach the governor until sometime next week. It must first be printed, enrolled and signed by the presiding officers of the senate and house.

Officials at the governor's office said Donahue will not decide whether he will sign it, veto it, or permit it to become a law without his signature until after he has studied the bill.

Speaker Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati, has publicly registered his opposition to reconvening the legislature for the purpose of passing the Baxter bill if Governor Donahue vetoes it. The act will become effective as law immediately upon being filed in the secretary of state's office, in the event that the governor signs it, or permits it to go on the statute books without his approving signature.

Riffian Peace Envoy Reports Failure.

Masons Hear Musicals

aid, of this city, feelingly sang "Jesus Lover of My Soul" to the tune of the Welsh hymn "Aberystwydd" with all present standing and lulled into a personal realization of the solemnity of the moment which at the outset of the service about the festal board had been begun by the reference made to his co-laborer's demise by Dr. Donald MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who attended the event long enough to perform the part that had originally been delegated to the dead minister.

In periods of two hours each the tripartite affair was conducted from 6 to 8 o'clock being devoted to dining, from 8 to 10 o'clock to singing and from the latter hour to midnight to dancing. Thrice the entire number of attendants moved en masse to the different floors on which these features were conducted.

The signal departure of the musical program given by the Welsh Male chorus of Youngstown, 16 strong, which was augmented by Messrs. Wilbur Newman, Joseph Lawton, Claude and Emmett Gaston, Rowland Kaufman, Edward Adams, H. Dan Smith and Wilbur George, of this city, pleased the filled third floor auditorium and gallery. The accompanist was Miss Lucille Orin, of East Liverpool, whose work was so meticulously and accurately done as to cause a member of the Youngstown contingent to aver before the final number: "We are greatly indebted to Miss Orin for her superior work on this occasion, particularly since two-thirds of it has been done by first sight reading."

Splendid Program.

From the opening of the Male Chorus with the vehicle, "Comrades in Arms," by Adams, the piece showing the marvelous tonal qualities of the singles with the ensuing encore, "The Jolly Roger," to the climax of the entertainment, "The Crusaders," by D. Protheroe, in which the descriptive features of this outstanding contribution to their artistic, finished style in the interpretation of the spirit that animated the activities which the composer sought to convey, the hearers were held spellbound.

This number brought into play all the capabilities of the director, Mr. Macdonald, who with every movement of hand, body and facial expression drew with precision and maximum quality the prescribed tone that carried vividly to the hearers the depths of the ideas which it was meant to carry.

Equally arresting was the martial number, "Men of Harlech," Welsh, Glendore Robert's composition, in which the resonance of voices and their perfect blending made for a rendition that was marvelous in the spirit evolved.

The ballad, "I Passed By Your Window" exhibited also the grace and precision of the ensemble of voices. All of the choral offerings were endorsed with the final number, "The Crusader," the audience seemingly wishing to conclude such a program with the reaction its music and spiritual effects had developed.

Miss Weaver Soloist.

Particularly gracious and cordial was the greeting the hearers of Miss Mildred Weaver, of this city, whose long time capabilities with violin and organ have been shared in her constantly growing accomplishments as a soprano vocalist. In "Ah, Love But a Day" by Beach she displayed again her artistry with her appealing, sympathetic voice. She was forced to encore and equally pleased in her offering: "Years Ago" by Harvey Gaul.

Miss Weaver also added to her evening's success in her appearance in a duet with Rowland T. Kaufman when they sang "The Indian Love Song" which they were compelled to repeat in part as an encore. Mr. Kaufman's natural tonal qualities were wonderfully shown in the selection utilized. Both were given a generous reception.

The Orpheus Mixed quartet, composed of Miss Mildred Weaver, Mrs. S. H. Zeppernick, Mr. Kaufman and Mr. Macdonald, likewise elicited praiseworthy comments as the result of their well balanced voices, their singular style and splendid interpretation of "The Sea Hath Its Pearls," by Circo-Pinsuti, and "Good Night Beloved," by the same composer.

The Youngstown men more than met up with their advance notices. They carried the well known tradition of the ability of Welshmen to sing. Owing to the death of his mother, Evan Williams, scheduled to contribute a tenor solo, was unable to be present. His place was taken by Bert Williams, who read "Not Understood" and "Wilfred Dwyer's Dream" from "The Silver King." Mr. Williams' interpretation of the two compositions made for an accentuation of the seriousness attending the evening due to the loss that the body had entertained. He was well received.

A duet by Arthur Hopkins and James Morrison, "Garden of Happiness," followed by "May I Come to You," based on a solo by B. Stanford Williams, "Belles of the Sea," and his encore, "Shipmates of Mine," and a baritone solo, "Invictus," Bruno-Hahn, served to indicate conclusively the high musical standard attained by the Mahoning county visitors.

Temple Sisterhood Serves Dinner.

Prepared and served by the Temple Sisterhood of B'nai Israel of East Liverpool, the dinner was in keeping with the high standard of all done at the evening's festivities. The diners with few exceptions sat down promptly at 6 o'clock and almost two full hours were devoted to the delicious menu arranged which began with fruit cocktail and ran the gamut of the viands of the season to ice cream veiled in puff rolls and embellished between by roast turkey, sage dressing, mashed potatoes and mixed vegetables, delectable yet delicate rolls, fruit sherbet, celery, olives, butter, coffee and cigars. In direct charge of the banquet was Mrs. Rickersburg and her committee.

The Sturgis orchestra furnished the music during the dancing period. All of the rooms utilized were decorated with potted plants and season flowers.

The committee in charge of the event consisted of Messrs. J. P. Patton, G. B. Phillips, R. H. Perry, J. M. Blazer, J. T. Croxall, C. C. Davidson, James Hodgkinson, George C. Thompson, John Stamm and D. F. Nellis.

GENEVA SQUAD DOWNS CHESTER

College Floor Passers
Score Victory Over
Wild's Charges.

Geneva College Reserves proved too much for Chester high basketball team here last night, downing Coach Wild's passers by a score of 53 to 28. The visitors led from start to finish. Chester Ex-high girls won the preliminary game from High girls, score 14 to 12.

Geneva five showed up strong in every department and early in the game demonstrated to the assembled fans that they were one of the fastest floor aggregations that ever played here. Chester, pitted against this formidable aggregation, put up a stubborn defense and gave a fine exhibition in the face of heavy odds.

Bruce opened the game for the visitors by caging a field goal on a running shot. He was fouled in making the basket and added two more points on free throws. Elliott and Simpson scored field goals before Campbell broke the ice for Chester with a double dunker. Sampson scored a goal from the field and Latiano followed with another from the center of the floor. Campbell scored a field goal and the first quarter ended with the score standing 12 to 5 in favor of Geneva.

Sampson started the second period by scoring a field goal on a side shot. Campbell scored from the center of the floor. Sampson, Elliott and Latiano scored two points. Simcox made good on a free throw. Lloyd took Sampson's place at forward. Bruce scored two more field goals for Geneva. Miller counted from the foul line, while Latiano scored a field goal for the visitors which ended the period and half with the score 28 to 9.

McKinney and Kay took the places of Brown and Latiano when the third period opened. Bruce and Lloyd made field goals. Pinney and Campbell shot field goals in rapid succession. Lloyd scored for the visitors and Campbell came back with another two pointer. Lloyd and McKinney scored field goals for Geneva, while Miller added two field goals and Pinney one to Chester's total. The score at the end of this quarter was 36 to 19.

McKinney scored the first points of the final quarter by caging a shot from under the basket. He was fouled and also scored from the free line. Lloyd scored another basket and Simcox tossed in a double dunker for Chester. Brown, Campbell and Tuttle tossed field goals. Sampson scored twice from the field. Miller tossed a foul. Lloyd, McKinney and Sampson scored from the field and Campbell made Chester's final score with a field shot.

Sampson, Bruce and Lloyd were high high scorers for Geneva, while Campbell with six field goals to his credit was the star for Chester. Pinney, Tuttle and Miller also performed in fine style for the locals.

Chester high girls lost a hard fought game to Ex-High by two points. McElravey was the high scorer for Ex-High, while Miss McCoy carried off like honors for High.

Make old age
more comfortable

OLD age is not a matter of years alone. Many folks feel younger at 70 than others at 60. Too many old folks are worried with backache, rheumatic pains and kidney irregularities. At such times a stimulant diuretic is helpful. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are recommended by thousands of elderly folks. Are endorsed here at home. Ask your neighbor!

's an East Liverpool Case:

Little H. Cochran, 248 Church Alley, says: "A sharp pain in my back almost doubled me up. I got drowsy and hard for me to pass the kidney secretions. For they said, 'I used Doan's Pills from Larkin's Drug Store and the trouble left.'"

Q. What meanings have the names of the Magi? N. A. R.
A. Caspar, white; Melchior, light; Balthasar, Lord of the Treasure House.

Q. Did the plan to pay the Indians for land taken by the Quakers originate with William Penn? V. G. Nn.
A. This revolutionary idea did not originate with Penn, but with the Bishop of London.

Q. What can be done to keep pancakes from sticking to an aluminum griddle? H. M. A.
A. Add a little extra butter to the batter.

Q. What countries were signatory to the Locarno treaty? J. E. M.
A. Great Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Italy, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Q. How are modern newspapers printed? E. S.
A. Rotary presses, which are used by most large newspapers today, print from curved plates fixed on cylinders, which are constantly revolving and constantly printing. They are not fed with single sheets, but with a long web of paper, the press itself cutting off the desired length of sheet from the reel, either before or after the printing is completed. Practically all these presses have folding attachments which deliver the paper folded and ready for delivery. The simplest form has four cylinders, two for the stereo plates and two to give the impression, but as newspapers have grown in size it has been necessary to add one, two, or three rows of cylinders above the first set. Presses are run at such great speed that some turn out 45,000 28-page papers per hour.

Q. What kind of timber is it which grows in the Philippines and is used as a substitute for mahogany? L. C. H.
A. The red lauans of the Philippine Islands are used in Europe and America as substitutes for mahogany. The wood is not so hard and durable as mahogany, but it has a beautiful grain and permits of a fine polish.

Q. Is Lincoln's home still standing? K. T.
A. The home in which Lincoln lived in Springfield, Ill., is still in existence as is the log cabin which he was born. The latter is in the vicinity of Hodgenville, Ky.

Q. What kind of flour is best for bread and what kind for cake and pastry? W. H.
A. The Department of Agriculture says that yeast breads can be made more easily and oftentimes more successfully from the so-called strong flours milled from hard wheat. This is because they contain a comparatively large quantity and high quality of gluten, the substance that enables the dough to stretch and hold within it the gas bubbles formed by the yeast during fermentation. Soft-wheat flours, on the other hand, contain less gluten and it does not have the elastic quality ties of that in hard wheat. However, for cake, pastry and quick breads, in which tenderness is of prime importance, this is desirable.

Q. What is the origin of the term "grass-widow"? W. L. B.
A. Authorities have never definitely been able to trace the origin of the term "grass-widow." It is to be found in many languages. Some believe that it is a corrupted form of "grace-widow," that is "widow by the grace of circumstances." There are no facts to substantiate this belief, however. According to Dr. Brewer, the modern use of the term seems to have originated among Anglo-Indians about the middle of the 19th century from the practice of European husbands sending wives to the hills during the hot season in India. In this section the grass is plentiful. Another suggestion is that it arose in America during the gold rush in California. A man not infrequently put his wife and children to board while he went to the diggings. This he called "putting his wife to grass" as a horse is put to grass when not in use for work.

REASONS

WHY YOU SHOULD USE

PLATE GLASS

FOR ALL MOTOR CAR REPLACEMENTS

Plate glass is the one kind of glass to use for motor car replacements because it is true, clear and free from troubles. It has no wavy lines that curl and swirl. It hasn't any rainbow prisms, nor any humps or hollows. It makes driving easy because it helps the eye work naturally, as it should. You don't have to strain nor squint through Plate glass. It doesn't repeat objects ahead of you.

Plate glass goes into windshield or door without being pushed or forced. That saves time and trouble and means quick delivery of your car. Plate glass is worked in the making much as a carpenter works wood. So it is even-surfaced and reliable. It makes your windshield or window tell the truth, every time. And Plate glass stands road shocks and vibration. That eases up on the cost to you.

Suffered Ten Years, Then Found Relief

Norwalk, Ohio—"I have tried most all kinds of medicines but got no relief till I took Dr. Pierce's Anuric (anturic-acid) Tablets. I had been troubled with kidney trouble for ten years. My back was so bad that I could scarcely walk and my ankles were so swollen that I could scarcely lace my shoes. After taking the tablets for three months the swelling was gone. I can now do all my hard work myself. I know if other poor sufferers will use these tablets right, they will get well. For me, I cannot say too much for them, for the good they have done me."—Mrs. A. ## TAX ABSTRACT DELINQUENCY CASE ON TRIAL HERE

Copy Now on File in
Office of Auditor
C. E. Hamilton.

Total taxes levied during 1925, including delinquencies and forfeitures of former years, total $3,030,963.53, according to the annual abstract that has just been compiled by County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton and his assistants. A copy of the abstract has been forwarded to Columbus, and a copy is now on file in the office of the county auditor.

Total county taxes levied on the present duplicate total $671,418.80 and township taxes levied amount to $208,743.29.

City, village, township and special school district levies total $563,040.71, while exempted city and village school district levies have been totaled at $201,844.07 and the abstract for other than city and village exempted district total $134,499.59.

City and village taxes levied amount to $481,412.07 and the total taxes levied by the uniform rate reach the total of $2,577,689.44.

County special assessments to be collected this year amount to $44,997.64; township special assessments $20,769.69 and municipal special assessments $149,658.17.

Total taxes and assessments on the 1925 duplicate total $2,793,114.94.

Delinquent taxes on real estate and of former years and personal property amount to $117,207.16 and delinquent taxes of 1924 on the personal property list amounts to $120,641.43.

The abstract sheet also discloses there has been levied of county taxes for world war compensation sinking fund $31,730.56.

Other taxes levies have been recorded as follows:

County fund, $145,579.84; poor fund, $29,192.12; children's home fund, $15,130.67; bridge fund, $19,038.34; building fund, $3,807.67; indigent soldiers' fund, $7,615.34; county debt fund, $101,537.82; election fund, $5,076.89; road fund two mill levy, $253,844.54; road repair fund, $19,038.34; blind relief fund, $15,230.67; judicial fund, $24,115.23; mothers' pension fund, $11,423; tuberculosis hospital fund, $19,038.39; agricultural society fund, $1,649.89.

There has been a marked decline in the valuation of personal property returned for taxation from the records of former years, it being disclosed that this valuation was higher when assessors were employed in the field than by leaving the filing of these returns by the individual.

Suit Instituted.
Through his counsel, Brookes & Thompson, of East Liverpool, Robert L. Graham has filed an action in common pleas court against R. C. Raabe and the Raabe Motor Sales company, claiming $450 damages as a result of an automobile collision.

The petition relates that the plaintiff was driving along the Cox highway east of Columbiana August 17 last when his machine was struck by one owned by Raabe and badly damaged.

High Passers Are Ousted From Lead In County Cage Circuit

Salem Wins Despite Final Half Rally By Blue and White Five

Lorah's Lads Fail to Get Single Field Goal in First Half of Clash, When Visitors Register 21 Points; Lead Too Big to Overcome as Locals Play up to Form Before End of Game.

Whether it was overconfidence, or too many examinations this week, or an off night, or just because, or a combination of all these things, will probably remain a secret with local high school basketballers, but the fact remains that Salem high passers handed Coach Lorah's Blue and White quint the biggest surprise of the season when they got away with a 35 to 27 decision, topped the locals from the tie for county leadership and went into the lead last night on the Ceramic City court.

The contest was unique in that the East Liverpool team did not make a field goal in the first half.

If there had been a "no trespassing" sign on the East Liverpool basket in that first half, the ball would not have avoided the hoop more consistently as it did.

It is questionable whether the Blue and White passers themselves knew just what was the matter. Passwork was erratic and spasmodic. There was no sign of a definite plan of attack. Coffee and his cohorts were flitting through the local defense and were scoring at the rate of one field goal every two minutes, ordinarily not impressive, but quite effective when the other side is unable to locate the hoop at all.

Off nights will come to most any team, but this particular one chose an extremely inopportune time to visit. It cost East Liverpool an important game.

Salem played consistently throughout the game, although their scoring privileges were checked to a great extent in the second half when Lorah's lads played at least partly up to the standard of which they are capable.

The visitors registered 21 points in the first half against six by the locals.

In the final half, the Red and Black scored 14 points, just seven field goals—while the locals were making 21.

In the last half, the Blue and White looked more like itself. The white jerseys began to stream down the court in the old time form and the leather began to swish through the net, with practically every member of the squad contributing to the rally which, however, got started too late and behind too big a lead.

Coffee was the mainspring in the Salem attack and defense. He registered four field goals and played the chief role in defensive movements.

Guard Paul English and Center "Teke" Bough starred for the Blue and White, playing more consistent basketball than the remainder of the squad. Wilson and Pusey began to find the basket in the final half, the former getting two and the latter three.

East Liverpool girls were defeated by the Salem sextet, 31 to 6, in the preliminary. Forward Older starred with eight field goals and two fouls. Two field goals and a foul by Imbrie and one foul by Waggle represented East Liverpool's points.

ACTION IN 18.1 RANKS CERTAIN

Four Stars to Take Part in Billiard Tourney.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—With the return of Young Jake Schaefer and Willie Hoppe to New York from the world's 18.1 balkline challenge match in Chicago, it was learned that there is certain to be some action in the 18.1 balkline division before the season ends. Early last month, or shortly after the first Horemans-Schaefer match, Hoppe disclosed that he had received challenges from both Schaefer and Horemans for his 18.1 balkline crown and that he had received an offer of $10,000 from Florida promoters who wished to stage the match.

The new plan, however, will be more pretentious than the earlier one, which would have the title decided in match play. The present proposal calls for a four-cornered tournament which would be decided in three nights of play, with the two survivors of the first two nights of action meeting on the final evening for the championship. The players who would qualify for this championship under the latest proposal would be Hoppe, the defender; Schaefer, Horemans and Erich Hagenlacher.

Three cities have been selected tentatively as scenes of the action, with New York, Philadelphia and Chicago mentioned. However, everything seems to favor New York, with Madison Square Garden as the home of the classic. According to the billiard officials who have been working on the plans, the Garden could be so arranged as to have at least 10,000 seats within range of the table. It is a difficult task to get a place large enough for billiard matches and at the same time enable the spectator to see the game with any degree of satisfaction. But those who already have done some investigating work seem satisfied that the Garden is well qualified to hold such a tournament.

Hoppe said yesterday that he was willing to defend his championship, even under the proposed four-cornered system, providing the financial inducements were satisfactory. It also is known that both Schaefer and Horemans are anxious to compete for the crown. Schaefer is ambitious to hold both titles, while Horemans, who will not get another chance for the 18.2 crown until the next tournament, in 1927, is anxious to return to his home in Belgium this summer the holder of some world championship.

April Seems Logical Time.
No date has been set for the 18.1 title play, but it is unlikely that it will be held until after the next challenge match for the world's 18.2 championship, which will be held at the Manufacturers' club in Philadelphia during the first or second week in March. This means that around the first of April would be the ideal time for the tourney.

Pirates are Victors

PIPP MAY GET REGULAR JOB

Will Probably Start at First Sack for Reds.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The passing of Wally Pipp, veteran first baseman of the New York Yankees to the National league, was viewed with some surprise today by local fans, the opinion being held that Pipp would have come in handy to at least three American league clubs, the Indians, Red Sox and Athletics.

His purchase at the waiver price by the Cincinnati Reds was taken to mean that Pipp will have a regular job this season. As the Reds are believed to be dissatisfied with the work of Rube Bressler, Walter Holke and Al Nichols at first base.

Pipp was a star first baseman for the Yankees from 1915 until last season when he fell off in his hitting and was replaced by Lou Gehrig.

DELANEY VICTOR OVER YOUNG BOB

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Jack Delaney, Bridgeport, Conn., contender for the light heavyweight title and New York's most popular boxer, won the decision over young Bob Fitzsimmons at the end of 10 rounds last night, but lost some of the favor in which he is held by local fans. Through no fault of Delaney's, the bout was a slow one, Fitzsimmons being; notorious for the fact that he is hard man with which to make a showing.

The only excitement of the match was confined to the fourth round when Fitzsimmons suffered the first knockout of his career from a right to the jaw, pulling Delaney over with him. He later tried hard to finish his man but couldn't find a vital spot.

In the latter rounds, Fitzsimmons' floundering and deceptive style placed real action at a premium and the fans jeered both principals. Delaney gave away 174 pounds in weight, scaling at 168 against Fitzsimmons' 185½.

At East Chicago—Bobby Barrett, Philadelphia, knocked out Frankie Welsh, Chicago, in five rounds. They are welterweights.

CRITICS PAN GOLF RULERS

Claim "High Hatting" in Picking Walker Team.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—That small minority, which can't seem to take its squawk or let it alone, has opened quite a sizable can of asparagus tips all over the official selections for the Walker cup team, announced with pardonable self-approval by the United States golf association several days ago.

One local critic frankly intimates that some members of the team were named largely because they know what the well dressed man will wear before he wears it and further suggests that entirely too much emphasis has been placed on the value of the drawing room manner. This critic seems to feel that there is quite a lot of high hatting going on in these parts. This is for the benefit of Chick Evans.

Another declares that the team should not have been named at all but its identity withheld until the British nominations were in. His idea is that, with the cup matches coming after the British amateur event, the English can name the men who are at the top of their stride at the moment while the Americans will be bound to their original selections.

He also bleats mildly over the fact that Bob Gardner and Jesse Guilford were chosen instead of Evans and Keefe Carter, but seems inclined to let the issue, if any, go by default.

Not so with his brother critic. "This one has a real grievance, and after establishing a case for Evans as 'being one of three amateurs who have in the past two years led fields in which the world's best amateur and professional talent was entered,' deploys into action thus:

"When Mr. Evans lost his money a year or so back did he lose his golfing skill? We hardly think the record will show any such loss. Last summer, during the Amateur championship 'sixteen fiasco,' Chick for the first time in sixteen years failed to qualify as did Francis Quimet and a number of other great golfers. Later, Evans led the field in the open at Wichita with a score of 281. Chick played through the entire year, averaging approximately 70 for the whole season. From the standpoint of a finished golfer, he never played in better form."

"If this Walker cup team is to be a purely social matter, why bother with Francis Quimet, George Von Elm and Jesse Guilford? They all have sprung from the caddy ranks and make no claim for social rating."

Gossip for Motorists!

The Following Conversation May be Heard in Any Neighborhood in East Liverpool

Frank Ford (to his neighbor, Bill Buick): "Say, Bill, why is it that your old bus seems to have so much pep these days? Did you put new glands in it?"

Bill Buick: "New glands, your eye. Don't you know the reason why? Where have you been for the last six months? The reason why my car is so full of pep is because I buy nothing but the best gasoline on the market."

Frank: "What is the name of this gasoline you are talking about?"

Bill: "Marathon Gasoline, the kind that puts pep in your motor. Believe me, Frank, it's the berries. I don't have any more trouble in starting on cold mornings, or Marathon seems to even put pep in my starter, and carbon—say, I don't know what it is to have a carbonized motor."

Frank: "Do you really believe that it gives more power?"

Bill: "I know it for a positive fact. The Midway Oil Company will prove this to your entire satisfaction. If they don't, you'll get your money back in a hurry."

Frank: "Doggone it, that's fair enough. I believe I'll try it the next time I fill up with gas."

Bill: "You will find out for yourself that everything of what I have told you is the absolute truth."

Arthritis Pain Is Relieved by Moist Heat Packs

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

RECENTLY I saw a report showing that the death rate of infants in one of our large cities was less than 60 per thousand born. That is wonderful.

What a contrast there is between the safety and privileges enjoyed by American children to-day and the primitive and dangerous conditions prevailing in Colonial times! The Pilgrim Fathers took to church with them not only their hymn books but also their muskets and side arms. They had to be on guard against the Indians. Every mother dreaded what might happen to her little ones. But because they were spared their lives and permitted to establish themselves in a place where

DR. COPELAND

A—I would say that arthritis is generally caused by an undue drainage of nerve energy. If the place of drainage can be changed, there are prospects of a cure. For further information, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and restate your question.

E. S. P. Q.—I have a double chin. What can I do to remedy it?

A.—Systematic massage should benefit this condition. Exercise such as lowering and raising the head, practiced for ten or fifteen minutes at night and morning should also be helpful. This should be done carefully and slowly.

X. Y. Z. Q.—What causes a pain in the chest beneath the shoulder blades?

2.—What is the cause of numbness or falling sleep in the arms and legs? The person does not wear anything that would stop the circulation.

3.—Is a hernia on the right side of the abdomen dangerous? A very slight swelling is noticeable, but the side seems to be indented or caved in.

4.—What causes a slight pain behind the ear and frequent headaches?

A.—This may be due to gases or neuralgia. If it persists, it would be best to have an examination, so that treatment may be prescribed.

2.—This trouble is probably due to poor circulation. With better general health it will probably disappear. For further particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and restate your question.

3.—Any hernia requires medical attention. In some instances a truss gives great relief; in others, operative procedure is necessary.

4.—This condition should have the attention of an ear specialist so that proper treatment may be advised.

THANK YOU, Q.—Do you advise plastic surgery for a misshapen nose? Could you advise me what such an operation might cost?

A.—In some instances plastic surgery has been very successful. It would be impossible to tell you what an operation of this kind would cost, since doctor's fees vary to such an extent. Go to one of the hospitals and they will advise you along these lines.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicine, hygiene and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it cannot be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is proper, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address ALL INQUIRIES to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Stars in "Graustark," Feature Photoplay

The man who built a kingdom lives in Hollywood.

Out of thin air, without a background or aid from history, in nine weeks he visioned, planned, sketched, created and supervised the building of as complete a kingdom as ever existed!

Castles were built to his order and furnished by his direction. A coat of arms and a national emblem came out of his facile brain to become reality. He fashioned a national flag to wave over the battlements.

Three regiments of soldiers were garbed in uniforms he designed. Customs and conventions of a royal court were planned and worked out by him. A royal silver service with the royal crest was made to his order.

Out of nothing, he built a mythical kingdom to reality!

LAD HELD FOR LOOTING STORE

Confesses to Breaking Into L. B. Kochert Grocery.

Charged with breaking and entering following his alleged confession to Chief of Police John Fultz that he burglarized the L. B. Kochert grocery store, 601 Aten avenue, William Clutter, 16 years old, who lives a mile and a half north of the city on the McQueen's Run road, is locked up in jail here awaiting a hearing before Mayor Wallace L. Fogo.

Clutter was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police John Fultz following an investigation of the burglary, which occurred Thursday night. Questioned by Chief Fultz last night, Clutter is said to have confessed to breaking into the establishment and getting away with cash, grocery and wearing apparel amounting to approximately $17.

According to the story told the police chief, Clutter removed glass from a window in front of the store, unobserved, and made his way into the store.

He rifled the cash register, it is said, of 67 pennies and a dollar bill and carried away two suits of overalls, a coat, a pair of gloves and a quantity of groceries.

In leaving the store he placed the window glass back in position. Clutter is scheduled to get a hearing before Mayor Fogo today.

VESPER SERVICE AT U. P. CHURCH

The second vesper service in the special afternoon series at the First United Presbyterian church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4:45 o'clock.

Interest was shown in last Sunday's meeting, the first of the series, and an even larger attendance is expected tomorrow. The church will be illuminated for the services in a way to add to the suggestiveness of the hour.

Rev. H. W. Ustick, pastor, will speak on, "What God Wants With Me." The sermon will be augmented by Hutchinson's, "One Increasing Purpose," a stirring religious story illustrating a great spiritual fact in life.

An extensive musical program has been arranged, including organ numbers by Walter Henstock; choir numbers, including, "Praise the Lord of Heaven," by Ashford, under the direction of Mrs. Will L. Baker; a soprano solo, "Thy Will Be Done," by Miss Ethel Peterson, who took part in the Christmas cantata, "Promise and Fulfillment."

Miss Peters and Mrs. Baker, both possessors of rich, full voices, will sing the duet, "Children, Pray Thy Love to Cherish," by Spohr.

The vesper service is one hour in duration. Rev. Ustick extends an invitation to the public.

BREAKS ARM IN SLED ACCIDENT

Edward Kessell, 12 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Kessell, of Toronto, former residents of this city, was taken to the East Liverpool City hospital yesterday following injuries sustained in a coasting accident at Toronto.

The youngster, it is said, sustained a compound fracture of his right arm when, while coasting, his sled ran into an obstruction on the track.

INJUNCTION CASE IS DISMISSED

Injunction proceedings filed in common pleas court October 31, 1925, by James B. Orr and James O. Orr, of Wellsville, against the city in protest of Wells avenue-Lisbon street assessment rates, have been dismissed, the case having been settled out of court. The journal entry has been approved by Mayor W. L. Fogo and City Solicitor Luccock and the action has been dismissed from the records at the cost of the defendant.

HIGHS DROP DOUBLE BILL

Boys Lose Thriller to Lisbon, Five, 33-31.

Coming within an ace of furnishing the biggest dope upset of the season until the present stage, Wellsville high school's five last night held Lisbon passers to a 33 to 31 count on the local floor in one of the most thrilling court engagements here in recent seasons.

A see-saw affair from start to finish, with the county seaters fighting tooth and nail to stay in the lead, the contest developed a brand of basketball that flashed with brilliant offensive and defensive tactics and kept the huge crowd of fans on the edge of their seats until the final toot of the whistle and the last field goal that slipped through the net in the nick of time for the Lisbonites to win.

Four stiff practice sessions during the week put the Orange and Black outfit on edge for a great struggle and they grabbed off plenty of glory, even in defeat.

Lisbon, prior to last night's contest, had played two county games, losing one and winning one. The quality of basketball the county seat aggregation is capable of did not drop off any here last night against the locals.

The final seconds of the game provided the big thrills with the two teams racing down to the wire, neck and neck. The count was 31-31 when the Blue and White slipped over the winning counters.

The girls' clash, staged as a preliminary, ran the main attraction a close race for honors. Lisbon lassies outscored the locals to win by a count of 30 to 25.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF ENGAGEMENT MADE

The Monday Evening Bridge club was delightfully entertained last evening at a 6 o'clock dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Russell at their home in Riverside avenue.

Announcement was made at the dinner of the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn, to Jay Monson Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Russell, of Cleveland Heights.

The dining room was decorated in yellow and white. Upon untied yellow and white bags before their plates, guests "let the cat out of the bag," finding attached cards bearing the names of the engaged couple.

After dinner three tables of bridge were in play. Prizes were won by Miss Agnes Lytle, Mrs. Clarence Williamson and Miss Isabelle Runyon.

The out of town guests included Misses Martha Parrish, of Mt. Vernon; Katherine Higgins, Columbus; Velma Harper, of Coraopolis, Pa.; Alana Hlavac, of Crafton, Pa., and Agnes Lytle, of Beaver Falls, Pa.

The wedding will be an event of the early spring.

HOLDS REVIVAL MEETINGS HERE

East Palestine Minister at Christian Church.

Evangelist E. P. Murch.

Revival services are under way in the First Christian church, under direction of Evangelist E. P. Murch, of East Palestine. Prior to taking charge of the First Christian church, at East Palestine, Rev. Murch was field secretary of the Ohio Christian Missionary society for eight years.

He is a fluent speaker and fills his sermons with power and force. His messages are delivered in series and many of them are illustrated by charts. Services are held each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The revivals will continue until Jan. 31.

COLLINS GIVES ADDRESS HERE

Peter W. Collins, internationally known lecturer, last night discussed "What America Needs" before a large audience in the Grand theatre, Main street, under auspices of the Wellsville council, Knights of Columbus.

He discussed economic, financial and labor conditions in the United States, urging a close bond of relationship between capital and labor, to eliminate costly production tie-ups caused by lockouts and strikes, by the settlement and adjustment of wages and other differences by arbitration and conferences, instead.

He delivered a masterful address, explaining a number of the questions that have been put to him during his many experiences on the lecture platform.

DOG TAG LIMIT NEXT WEDNESDAY

J. L. McDevitt, of Fourth and Broadway, today announced dog tags can be obtained from him at his residence.

The time limit is Wednesday, Jan. 20. After that, McDevitt pointed out, there will be a penalty attached to the cost of the licenses. McDevitt announced he had been authorized by the county to accept orders for tags.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS MEETING

Members of Sunday school class No. 7 of the First Presbyterian church were entertained last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. McDevitt, 401 Broadway. It was the organization's first meeting of the year. A coverd luncheon was served. Games and music were diversions.

WOMAN HURT IN FALL ON STREET

Mrs. John Heakin, Seventh street, is recovering from shock and bruises sustained yesterday when she slipped and fell on the icy sidewalk near her home while on her way to a nearby grocery store. Although an examination by Dr. J. S. McCulloch, who attended her, revealed no broken bones, Mrs. Heakin suffered greatly from bruises on the back of her head. She was taken to her home, dazed, by neighbors.

Wellsville Personal. Miss Mary Stoakes is confined by illness to her home in Fourth street. The young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur MacLean of Riverside avenue, is reported to be recovering from a recent illness. Mrs. W. S. Rowe, wife of Rev. Rowe, of the Methodist Episcopal church, has been removed from St. Luke's hospital, Cleveland, to her home here. She has been a patient in the Cleveland hospital for several weeks. Her condition is said to be improved.

Mrs. W. R. Kay, Buckeye avenue, (patient in the East Liverpool City hospital, is reported to be recovering from a recent illness. Miss Kathryn Gregory, Center street, student at Marietta college, has been elected to the Beta Theta sorority there. She graduated from the local high school last June.
